PREFACE

The rewards that come to anyone who compiles a family genealogy are many indeed. Probably there isn't anything that has given us more satisfaction than the completion of this book. It necessitated the assistance of a great many individuals from every branch of the family who were willing to provide their information to the compilers. It is the compiler's job to assemble in some orderly format the information provided. To all of you who assisted in any way, we extend our thanks and appreciation. Without your help it would have been an impossible task.

Compiling such a genealogy is a long time process. It is not something you do in a few weeks or even a few months. It is a never ending endeavor. As a consequence there never comes a day when the process is complete. But there has to be a stopping point; so we hope all of you will keep a record of the events that happen in your part of the family and add names and dates as they happen. If you will make such an effort the value of this book will become increasingly greater and someday, what you have done will be appreciated by a great many.

As you read through the pages one begins to realize the immensity of the family and it makes one think of the important part the family has played in the development of our great country. We are in nearly every state and in many foreign countries. We represent almost every walk of life. It helps one to realize the importance of Genealogical Research not only to the welfare of each of us as individuals, but to the welfare of all of us collectively. When an individual has some knowledge of his ancestry he becomes more conscious of his place in the world and realizes that he is the sum total of all.

Lord Macaulay has said; "A people which take no pride in the noble achievements of remote ancestors will never achieve anything worthy to be remembered by remote descendants."

A poem that seems worthy of publication in this book is one written by Mildred McEwen Jones to her classmate, Mildred Borah Meyer. At this moment it expresses our thoughts. It is entitled "Timely Advice".

Before you are tempted to throw out this book,

Think first of the sacrifice

Your ancestors made to get you on earth

Then Know it has no price;

And when it gets scarce in years to come

And you brag on your family,

You can prove that they were among the first

And thus save history.

We feel fortunate in being able to give the genealogical information on all of the descendants of Edward Guardene and Sarah Margaret Davis Bailey with the exception of a couple of families; of which no one knows the whereabouts and which we regret we were unable to locate. Although we have made every effort to see that these records are accurate, no doubt some errors do exist. In spite of any such errors the information given is extremely valuable. As the years go by the value of this book will increase and the contents will become more and more meaningful, not only to us but to our children and grandchildren as well. Preserve and cherish these records for posterity.

DEDICATION

Dedicated to the loving memory of Edward Gardene Bailey and Sarah Margaret Davis of whom we write this book, and their forefathers who are our forefathers as well. Their lifetimes must have been beset with almost untold obstacles, unsurmountable to us in this age, and with hardships impossible of our comprehension. But by virtue of their rugged abilities, sterling qualities of character, downright persistence, and a supreme desire to be successful, laid the foundation of our freedom and happiness in this country. We are here because of them. We owe them much.

"When the sun sinks to rest
And the Star of the West
Sheds its soft silver light over the sea,
What sweet thoughts arise
For then I am thinking of thee."

brothers and sisters went to school. His school attendance was limited to the winter months while during the summer months, he worked either on his father's farm or for one of the neighbors. In 1848 the family purchased a farm located on the south side of the road which was a main traveled route some three miles west of Oberlin towards Kipton. The farm was located in Henrietta Township. It was on this farm that Edward Guardene assisted his father in building a log cabin for their home. It was probably this experience that helped Edward Guardene decide that he wanted to learn the carpentry trade which helped him earn his livelihood for a number of years. The Federal Census Record for 1850 for Henrietta Township, Lorain County, Ohio records the Jonothan Butterfield Bailey family as Family Number 1374. Listed is Jonothan Bailey; his wife, Hannah; sons, Curtis, Jonothan, Edward, Ira, and Harry; and daughter, Lucretia. By 1850 son Moses, and daughters, Lovina, Anna, and Hepsibeth were all married and away from home.

The family lived in Henrietta Township, Lorain County, Ohio until 1855 at which time they moved to Ransom, Hillsdale County, Michigan. Ransom was a small rural community no longer on most maps. It is located some twenty miles southeast of Hillsdale, Michigan. From Ransom Edward Guardene went to Barry County, Michigan where on October 28, 1855, he married SARAH MARGARET DAVIS at Assyria, Barry County. She was born in Battle Creek, Calhoun County, Michigan on May 14, 1840, the sixth daughter and twelfth child of SETH and CLARISSA HOYT DAVIS. She had grown up on a farm near Assyria and Castleton, both small communities in southeast Barry County.

The next spring after Edward Guardene and Sarah Margaret were married, they moved to Minnesota to the location where St. Paul is today. They lived in St. Paul for only a short time until they moved again to Redwing, Goodhue County, Minnesota where they lived for a couple of years. They then moved again in 1858 to the small rural community of Hader, Goodhue County, Leon Township. The farm where they lived was comprised of 120 acres. It included the Southwest one-fourth, the Northeast one-fourth of the Southeast one-fourth of Section 26 of Leon Township. A good set of farm buildings still stand on the farm in 1973 but the farm itself is divided by Highway 58 which travels through it diagonally. Down the road about two miles is the little community of Hader. The Federal Census of 1860 for Leon Township, Goodhue County, Minnesota classifies E. B. Bailey with land worth $207.00 and as a farmer. Listed is his wife, Sarah, and children, Ally and Emma. A Minnesota Census taken in 1865 lists the E. B. Bailey family as living in Leon Township, Goodhue County with wife, Sarah, and children, Emey, Allen E., and Elin.

Hepsibeth Bailey Sage, older sister of Edward Guardene Bailey, lived near Wellington, Ohio, also Loraine County. During the Civil War period Edward Guardene on one sojourn in Ohio was able to visit her. In one of the letters that she wrote to Sarah Margaret during the Civil War period while the Bailey's lived in Minnesota, she mentions the fact that while Edward, as she called him, was growing up, he was almost as a child to her more so than a brother. This happened, of course, more often than not, in large families. She wrote flowingly about what kind of a boy Edward had been. She indicated how proud she really was of him.

In 1861 the Civil War began. As the armies began to be organized, Edward Guardene had an extremely strong urge to serve his country prompted certainly by the fact that his father, grandfather, and great grandfather had all served their country in time of war and he wanted to uphold the family record.

Company E of the Third Minnesota Volunteer Infantry was being organized and enlistments of men from the Goodhue County area were being taken. So it was easy for Edward Guardene to become a member of the U.S. Army which he did on October 10, 1861. He was immediately assigned a rating of sergeant. J. Carroll Borah, grandson of Edward Guardene, has a book entitled "Memorial and Biographical Record of Central South Dakota" published in 1899 by George Ogle and Company of Chicago. The biography of Edward Guardene Bailey is included in this book. A statement made by Edward Guardene says that he felt he needed to uphold the record of the family as his father, Jonothan Butterfield Bailey, had fought in the War of 1812; his grandfather, Abijah Bailey, had fought in the American Revolutionary War; and his great grandfather, James Bailey, had served as a Brigadier General in the French and Indian War for the British Army and later served on the American side in the Revolutionary War.

For the first year of the war, Edward Guardene was involved in only a few minor skirmishes. The first major conflict that his company was involved in was at Murfreesboro (sometimes called Stones River). He was serving as a scout in this battle and was taken prisoner by the Confederates. Murfreesboro was fought on December 31, 1862 through January 2, 1863. He was not a prisoner very long as he was soon traded and back in service. In June and July 1863 he was in Ohio visiting his sisters and brothers and recuperating from his experiences. After his summer in Ohio he headed south again where on December 19, 1863 he re-enlisted for another two years at Champion Hills, Mississippi again with Company E Third Minnesota Volunteer Infantry. In January 1864 he was in the Little Rock, Arkansas area where he was serving as a Secret Service Agent. Among his duties was that of escorting prisoners of war to prison and helping to locate guerilla bands. The remainder of his enlistment he spent in the Western war zone in the states of Arkansas, Tennessee, Kentucky, Missouri, and Texas. He was mustered out of service on October 2, 1865.

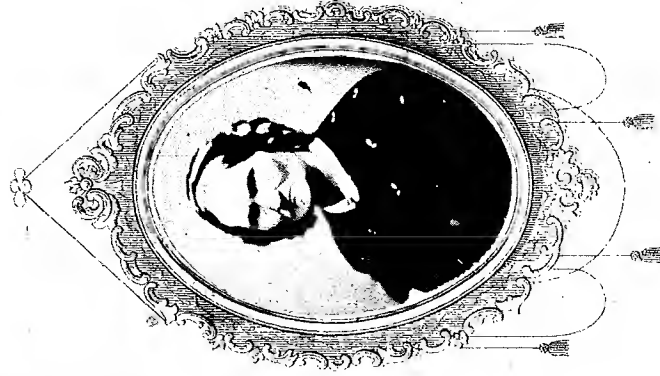

During the war years Edward Guardene wrote many letters to his wife, Sarah. (He always called her "Chubby" in all of the letters.) A great many of these letters are among members of the family and if they could all be recorded in one spot would give a good account of what went on in the war. The letters contain many interesting sidelights of the war and much about the suffering and hardships the men endured. In one of his letters he says that a great majority of the men could not read or write; nor could their wives. Whether it was an obligation or whether he did it on his own accord, he wrote many letters for his comrades to their wives. The wives in turn, had to have someone read the letters to them and then write for them to their husbands.

Edward Guardene had a younger brother, Ira Bailey, who enlisted in the army also during the Civil War. He enlisted at the age of 19 from Michigan and was critically injured by a bursting shell and died as a result of it on June 16, 1863. He is buried in the National Cemetery at Arlington, Va.

Soon after the war was over Edward Guardene returned to Minnesota and his family. For the next four years he farmed and did carpentry work. In 1869 the family moved to Pottawattamie County, Iowa where they settled on a farm some six miles north of Oakland, Iowa (it was Oak Grove at that time) and to the west and south a bit of Hancock, Iowa. The land location was in James Township on the West side of the Nashabotna River and bordering Silver Creek. There were many oak trees in the area and on the Bailey farm.

The above paragraph is an excerpt from a letter written by Edward Guardene Bailey during the Civil War to his wife, Sarah Margaret, in Minnesota. Ofttimes in his letters he mentions interesting experiences and talks about men he knew in the service or perhaps relatives. The men are possibly members of the Minnesota Regiment of which he was a member. Who he is referring to in the above paragraph when he says:
"As I slipt the rope over their heads I thought of poor ____?" is not certain.

During the Civil War he wrote dozens of such letters usually to his wife. The next five pages contain a couple of typical letters. They give us a good idea of the style he used and let all of us know that he wrote remarkably well for one who had so little formal education. All of his letters would pretty well tell the story of the Civil War with all of its horrors, atrocities, anxieties, and suffering. Human nature then must have been pretty much as it is now. More could have been included in this book but it seemed these two would suffice.

Camp Near Westville, Nov 16th 1862

Dear wife I will now try and write you a few lines although I do not feel much like writing. For I am no better than a sick cat, I have caught a dreadful cold and it has settled on my lungs and I am afraid it will remain in the lungs forever but I do not at all doubt if you was only here to take care of me I would not mind it much but I must take things as they come and I will not complain I am not much worse than a childful cough and head ache I have a lump in my arm we got two months of our lives the day the chaplain is going home to Ireland and a few days and I shall send some money by him, if I do not send by him I will send by express I got paid the whole of the afternoon and all I got a letter from Margaret the other day tell him I will answer him in a few days I wish I do not feel well enough to stay any heed to as days I can hardly tell me in the same place in Ireland at noon when last wrote you must not fret about me for I shall be all right in a few days Bryan and Margaret will you must write often for all the comfort

I have in reading your letters I got letter I want you to write who that young man in red wing you must write half of the story and leave out the rest. You must excuse this short letter, because I do not feel very well but my only anxiety is for you.

You had better send your Edward

Dear wife

I have just received Bro's letters from you the first one I have got from you since I left - looks as if he had just passed by that - you & the little ones were well, but was sorry to hear that - you was so disappointed for my sake dear wife. We are under our misfortunes, & the misfortunes of circumstances, certainly you cannot - but how much it gives me to think you have me for leaving you as far as I have done - but - looking me
I can only I believed at me and my wife
I need to be good & country & to my own land wife & little ones which I judge above all else on earth, to do so I have done nothing beyond, you - but I have to hear, but - also & think of the thousands, yes tens of thousands, of destitute women & children, in our land. That has been made so by these cursed rebels, & then dear wife you will say that - is the duty of every free man to do all that lies in their power to crush the insurrection from existence. Dear wife, of good will, that we shall meet again when this cruel war is over, I wish it to be so that I can look my friends in the face & say I have done my duty which every honest heart-ovres to his God & country, do not think wife that I am leading a merry life down here spending my time in ease & contentment without caring for you at home, it is not so & you worry me when you think so although I hear wife you or no one ever heard the complaints of me, but I do not think so, this that I liked the army, for I am it, for I will now say to you what no one ever heard me say before, that I don't believe there is another soldier in this army that sees more miserable lonely & homeless's hours than I do, Mr. Clark is of the most tender & dangerous friend, & a thankless one at that - but the hardest of all is to leave you alone & find fault with me, but surely I will worry you for I know your heart is right & I know the whole influence thrown around you is against the Government & I can not blame you, for what you think, but I hear one there is brighter days & evening & not far distant bright from long Anticipation

Oh how I love for me, once happy home again

others, can once more be wished - for etern in peace, without being considered by the wiled 'mole' of the Guide?
As the alarm of our lack is the enemy after whom I had been I had not the chance to let in the hardships I had endured in this, which might after much I have found in the Cyprus atmosphere. we are but my horse upon a common & enemies all are myel me, all are in such times as this that any imagination would do quickly bring before the eyes of those & travel only for a day, but enough of any confining it - is growing state & I could not say to lose, I must avoid to me whether you have got a well get on and I from the former are getting a horse to the road this day and it's best for tonight it's well & hands, has had a little since he came down I am healthier now than I ever was and I have seen the enemy you must direct - your letters just - you have before the end of April - W. W. Leiby God bless Providence with both this, and have not a end of your yet - soon as I do I will send you the I send - I told you I needed & some money help the Guide for me & receive a half a day for yourself and on gift - & God bless you yours ever

Believe me

This pose of Edward Guardene Bailey was probably taken during the Civil War. Both the pipe and the pouch may have been a fake and for effect only as some of the folks who ought to know say that they believe he never smoked. Mildred Borah Meyer remembers the cane. J. Carroll Borah has the pipe in his possession today.

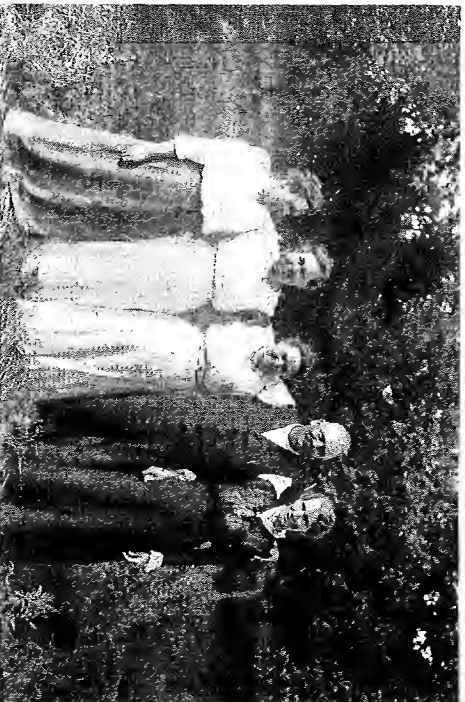

It was from one of the oak trees on the Iowa farm that Edward Guardene made a dresser for his daughter, Emma, that she took with her to Nebraska when she moved there. The dresser was later destroyed in a tornado but pieces of it were salvaged and reworked into a pedestal that is still in possession of the family. For the first ten years in Iowa, Edward Guardene farmed and did carpentry work in the area. In 1879 he purchased a farm implement business in Oakland which he operated until 1883. It was in the spring of 1883 that the family moved again to the Dakota Territory.

The family filed first on a homestead in what is now Hand County, South Dakota. The description of the land being the Southeast Quarter of Section 14, Township 114, Range 66 West of the Fifth Principal Meridian in Dakota Territory, containing 160 acres. This is recorded in in Deed Book 3, page 342 of Hand County Records. The filing cost of the land was $4.00. The date was September 10, 1884. The same entry is recorded in the General Land Office, Huron, South Dakota as Homestead Certificate Number 215, Application Number 3571, Volume 1, page 141. The patent was received on June 1, 1886 and filed December 8, 1886. All recording is done in the name of Edward G. Bailey. On February 28, 1888 he sold the above land but did not get an abstract or deed to property straight until April 2, 1900. The land was sold for $40.00. Edward G. evidently did not get any money as the property was mortgaged and finally resold at a Sheriff's sale for $650.00.

The Bailey's built their claim shanty in the very northeast corner of their quarter bordering on the banks of Wolfe Creek. In 1973 there was no evidence of any buildings ever having been there with the exception of a dugout where the house once stood. Today there is an excellent set of buildings on the farm which is owned and operated by George Bottum and Sons. The present buildings stand about a quarter of a mile south of the original home site. The farm may be reached by going fifteen miles straight north of Wessington, South Dakota, then one mile west and a quarter of a mile north on the west side of the road. The farm today is one of the better developed farms in all of the area.

So that they could be nearer their children the Bailey's moved again in 1895 to a farm located on the Northwest Quarter of Section 34, Bonilla Township, Beadle County, South Dakota. The farm was 2 miles west and almost 2 miles south of Bonilla on the east side of the road. In 1973 there was a dim depression only of where the cellar had once been. The Bailey's lived on this farm for a 4 year period. It was while they resided at this site that the biography of Edward Gardene Bailey appeared in "Memorial and Biographical Record of Central South Dakota" which was previously mentioned.

Mildred Borah Meyer has in her possession a diary that Sarah Margaret Davis Bailey kept. In it is the following quote for 1899: "September 13, we moved to Huron to be near a doctor for Edward. He continued to get worse. His limbs were badly swollen. Went to Rochester October 18 and stayed until November 4 - was better for awhile." Then she writes of having doctor especially a Dr. Steer, an osteopath, who came three times a week as long as Edward lived. On New Years Day, 1900, his son-in-law, James Borah, took him to Canova, South Dakota (we believe by train) to see a doctor. He continued to get worse and on Sunday, February 25, 1900 he suffered a stroke of paralysis and died on February 27, 1900. He was 64 years, 9 months and 17 days old.

Sarah M. Bailey applied for a homestead grant on June 26, 1906. It is recorded in the General Land Office in Huron, South Dakota, Volume 269, page 419. Application Number 16131, homestead certificate number 7171. The description of the land is as follows: "Lot no. 5 of Section 6 in Township 112 North, Range 64 West and the Southeast Quarter of the Northeast Quarter of Section 1 in Township 112 North, Range 65 West of the Fifth Principal Meridian in South Dakota containing eighty and forty-seven hundredths acres." For easier location this land is located in Section 6 in Whiteside Township and Section 1 in Allen Township in Beadle County, South Dakota. J. Carroll Borah who grew up on the Borah farm some 3 miles east of the above tract says concerning his Grandmother Bailey's homestead: "I can remember it was a red letter day for me when I got a chance to ride over with her to the claim shanty and stay all night with her. I picked up cow chips to build a fire to get supper."

Camden Borah Meyer has in his possession the family bible of the E. G. Bailey's. It was published in 1860 and was purchased while the family lived in Goodhue County, Minnesota. In it is recorded in the family record pages the birthdates of Edward G. Bailey, Sarah M. Davis and their five children. This is in the handwriting of Edward Guardene Bailey. The death dates of all of the five children are recorded too in different handwritings but undoubtedly all authentic. Other personal items still in the family possession include the bayonet of Edward Guardene which he carried during the Civil War. Glenn Boyd now has this sword and has placed it in the State Fairgrounds Museum at Huron, South Dakota. Edward Guardene also had a meerschauum pipe and a carpenters plane both now in the possession of J. Carroll Borah. He had a carpenters tool box that Lois Borah has. J. Carroll Borah also has a photo album that belonged to the E. G. Bailey's.

After the death of Edward Guardene, Sarah Margaret Davis Bailey lived with her children until about 1910. At that time she built a small home on the lot in back of the home of her daughter, Ellen Newton, in Huron, South Dakota where she lived until she passed away. Mildred Borah Meyer says she knew her grandmother well as she lived with her for one year while attending school in Huron. Grandma Bailey as she was known was an extremely religious woman. She was of strong Christian character and knelt every evening in prayer. She firmly kept the Sabbath holy as she thought - no card playing or work that was not necessary. She was great for visiting her children and went from Huron to the Borah farm some 30 miles northwest of Huron to the home of Allen Bailey nearby, and then to the Lawson farm in Hand County some 15 miles farther on making the trip real often in a spring buggy driven with an old gray horse named, Dick. The trip in between the places generally took a days time.

Sarah Margaret Davis Bailey died on May 4, 1912. She was buried alongside her husband in the Riverside Cemetery, Huron, South Dakota. Their graves are located in the northwest part of the cemetery and are marked with a tall square sandstone marker with the dates of birth and death of Edward Guardene Bailey and Sarah Davis Bailey on opposite sides of the tombstone. Also written on the stone are these words: "His toils are past, his work is done! He fought the fight, the victory is won." Standing beside the grave is an iron marker indicating that he was a member of the G.A.R. (Grand Army of the Republic.)

A newspaper article from the Huron Paper concerning her death says:

"The end came without any sign of suffering. As she gradually slept away, her face assumed a marked expression of sweet relief, which left no doubt in the minds of those who watched by her bedside, that she had indeed entered into the haven of rest." In 1876 the Bailey's had joined the Christian Church in Oakland, Iowa. When they moved to Burdette, South Dakota, they had joined the Methodist Episcopal Church there. The newspaper goes on to say.. "Her life throughout was one of intense activity. She retained till her last illness, full possession of her health and faculties, although nearly seventy-two years of age. Thoughtful kindness, untiring industry, and a cheerful disposition, made her greatly loved by her children, and the friend of all who knew her. She will be missed as only such noble souls can be, by a large circle of relatives and friends."

Much more could be written about Edward Gardene and Sarah Margaret Davis Bailey and the lives they lived but we are concluding with a tribute to them by saying that they and their children had to be a hardy group. It is difficult for me and for all of us who live today to even imagine the difficult life they lived. They built their houses and barns from the native soil of the prairie in South Dakota and Nebraska. They gathered buffalo chips and twisted hay for fuel. Sometimes they even exchanged buffalo bones for provisions and groceries which they had to haul by horse and buggy over many miles of almost nothing but a prairie trail. They had to be true lovers of the sod to break the prairie as they did and to make it productive. Certainly they knew the meaning of work and sweat. They carried on through any and all circumstances. They laughed at hardships and thrived on adversity. They had to be frugal and thrifty to even survive. They all lived through the scourges of drought and heat, rust and blight, frost and hail, blizzards and prairie fires, gophers and grasshoppers, tornadoes and cyclones - but nothing could stop them in their determination to make for themselves a home on land of their own where they could raise their families with freedom and equality. To them we owe so much!

EMMA ARMENA BAILEY BALES OF THE NINTH GENERATION

2. EMMA ARMENA BAILEY, first child of EDWARD GUARDENE BAILEY and SARAH MARGARET DAVIS BAILEY, was born August 1, 1858 near Hader, Goodhue County, Minnesota. We find her listed in the 1860 Federal Census for Goodhue Co., Minnesota, as Emma and in the 1865 Minnesota Census as Emey. Emma went to school in Goodhue County where she lived while her father served his country in the Civil War. She along with her brother, Allen, and sister, Ellen, lived with their mother possibly in the same house as her mother's parents, the Seth Davises lived. Several aunts and uncles lived right nearby so she grew up with a number of her cousins. She was in the 11th year of her life when she moved with her parents, brother and sister to Pottawattamie County, Iowa where she grew to womanhood and on Christmas Day, Dec. 25, 1876, she married JAMES IRVIN BALES. He was born Mar. 20, 1851 in Appleton, Outagamie County, Wisconsin, the son of Alexander and Mary Hartman Bales, and the grandson of William and Susan Bales. The 1850 Federal Census for Outagamie County (then Brown County) spells the name, Bayles, and gives the birth state of Alexander and Mary as Indiana and of William and Susan as Kentucky. The Bales family had moved to Pottawattamie Co., Iowa and lived in the same area as the Baileys. The Bales and Baileys were close neighbors. It was easy for them to see each other often which must have happened in the case of Jim and Emma. Jim was seven years older than Emma and firmly believed in "Go West, Young Man". He stayed with his desires until he got the job done.

Some of their letters which are in the hands of the family would seem to indicate that true love does not always run smoothly. The following are copies of a few of the letters which Emma Bailey received from Jim Bales before they were married. (An effort has been made to copy these letters and others to follow, as they actually were written. Often the schools in the early pioneer days were of only a few weeks duration each year. In view of the limited opportunities for formal education, the amazing thing is not how many errors they made in their writings but rather how well they wrote.)

Emma Armena Bailey and James Irvin Bales were married in the home of her father, Edward Guardene Bailey, located in what was then the town of Big Grove, Iowa. This was a sparsely settled area in the heart of a heavily wooded region about 30 miles east of Omaha, Nebraska. The timber is gone now and the name of the town has been changed to Oakland.

The story of Emma Armena Bailey Bales could fill a book; it is a story of a true pioneer spirit who helped in her small way with the westward expansion of our great nation. At the time of her marriage, the United States had just celebrated the 100th anniversary of its independence.

Emma Bailey married a kindred spirit - and she followed her man. Always they were pushing on and on, seeking a better way of life for themselves and their family. They met with trials and adversities that would have caused weaker souls to falter and give up, but not so with Emma and Jim Bales. They had a singleness of purpose which kept them ever striving onward for the good life. The strength of character which they developed is a heritage of many of their descendants today.

Emma's many grandchildren loved to hear her relate stories of "the good old days." She was a memo keeper and a writer of letters. Many of these papers are available today in the original and give us an insight into the life and character of this couple. Their story ends happily, for in their later years they had a serene and comfortable living while surrounded by many of their loved ones.

The first year of their married life was spent in Oakland, Iowa. In January 1878 they went to Missouri to be near Jim's parents who lived in the vicinity of Rosendale. This was the first of a long series of moves during their sixty-four years together.

Jim and Emma lived in a little house a half mile from his parents. When the roads were dry enough, he hauled wood and sometimes worked at a wood saw, earning one dollar a day for himself and a horse. His hopes were to earn enough money to build a house when they moved to Kansas. Corn was selling for 20 to 25 cents and green apples for 40 cents a bushel at this time.

In May of that year, 1878, they moved to Beloit, Kansas. His plans were to get land if possible; if not, then he would work on the railroad. After arriving in Kansas, they lived in their covered wagon for a time but eventually moved into a dugout house because it was warmer for baby Josie.

The dugout, a house built into the side of a hill, was truly an ingenious idea and the same principle is used today in many elaborate homes. Loot at a house where you walk into the top story on the ground level, and out the lower story (usually through French doors) onto a lower ground level and thank the resourceful pioneers of yesterday for the good idea.

Their crops that first year were destroyed when the Solomon River flooded the entire valley. (The old Solomon still goes on the rampage periodically. This writer traveled through that area in 1973 and the devastation caused by the flooding of the Solomon River in that year was almost unbelievable.)

In a letter which Emma wrote to her parents in September 1878, she told them that she and Jim had just about made up their minds to stay in Kansas and "tuff it out" but that every time she got a letter from them, she wanted to go back home. Finally at Emma's urging, she and Jim returned to Iowa.

The following is an excerpt from a letter Emma Bailey Bales wrote to her mother, Sarah, just before leaving Kansas to return to their old home in Iowa:

September 28, 1878

Dear Mother

I now sit down to drop you a few lines so that you will not be worrying about us. Allen got through all right the 25. Jim met him in Beloit... Josie has got so she likes him pretty well now. Jim has traded wagons and got a better one than his old one...We are going to start Monday morning and expect it will take us too weeks to come through...Well ma your ugly children will soon be back to bother you. Tell Laura that I will watch Ally for her.

Emma

In those days when the roads were little more than trails, covered wagons did well to go 12 to 15 miles a day, according to history books.

Jim and Emma spent nearly five years in Iowa before moving to Boone County, Nebraska in the spring of 1883. They made the long hard trip in a covered wagon with 3 children under the age of 6. Another child, Harvey, was born soon after their arrival at their new home. They settled in Dublin (sometimes spelled Dublin) which was later renamed Primrose. Life was not easy for them in Boone County.

The following letters were written by Emma to her parents and give us a glimpse into their hard life and a little insight into the character and personalities of these two people:

Dublin Neb. 10th 1884 (Sept.)

Dear Father and Mother it is with pleasure I sit down to answer your welcome letter that we got sometime ago but I have been so busy that I have not took time to write we are all well now the baby has been pretty bad with the diarrhea I thought once that we would have to have the Doctor for him but he is all right now Jim is away thrashing this week he has been at home for to weeks doing his fall plowing he says it is hard thrashing for the grain is so wet and is not turning out so well as last year but corn is good we have had plenty of rain through July & August I hope that you have had rain up there so as to help your corn out I got a big letter from Liz last night but I think Elias too weeks are pretty long weeks pa I think you must have a poor place to raise wheat on Jim's only went 12 bushels to the acre but they (tell) him it will do a good deal better next year on the same ground. we put our wheat in the bedroom so it makes us rather crowded now. The above letter was written in pencil. She kept adding more as time went on, most of this being written crossways in blue ink. No paper to waste, I guess. Below is the part she wrote crossways:

Mr Patterson Mr and Mrs Cole stayed with us till he was buried the neighbors was all good to us we thought mabe we could of saved him if we had had the doctor sooner. but he told us not to blame our selves for he new we had given him the best of care for he thought his time had come and he is called the best Docter in town the baby is coming down with rash now and Josie will have it next but ma I will give them the best care I can but O I am so afraid they will get the diptheria to. but Jim went right a way and thought he was going in good time but it was to late and it is very hard to think that we might of saved him if we'd had the Dr sooner. I think and so did the Dr that the lump grew and came to gather and stop his throat up but was down so far that it could not be seen I would give a good deal if we had his picture I had entended to get all of thire pictur to send to you for Eddie had got to be such a little man that I wanted you to see how he had grown but I never got them Ma you and pa will have to let Alls boy take Eddies place in your harts but you will never have a better grandchild than he was but I do beleive he was to good for this world his sermon was preached from first Corinthians 15 ch and 26 verse Harveys was Job 19 chp and 26 verse Jim gave $5.00 for a place to bury them and as soon as we can we will put a fence around it and set out some cedar trees

Jim says you had better send the whole post office down here I wish you a Merry Christmas If I cant be with you Write soon from Emma to Father and Mother

In May 1885 Jim Bales and his friend, David Cole, came to Holt County, Nebraska, where both took homesteads. Jim acquired his by pre-emption at a cost of $2.00 (two dollars). The place was located five miles from Swan Lake and although there was little here at that time but sandhills and scattered waterholes, they lived in Holt County nearly ten years and endured the hardships characteristic of pioneer life.

On his arrival at the homestead site, Jim built an 8x10 soddy (house built of sod) with a grass-covered roof. He planned to use this structure as a stable. David Cole built a two-room frame house which the Bales family moved into the next April. They lived there until a larger sod house was built.

Because fuel was non-existent in this unfenced expanse of grassland, they burned hay in the stove. A neighbor invented a framework for the hay, which was attached to the stove. Hay was poked down as needed for burning and heat.

The Bales children walked two miles to school in Holt County. School was in session only the three summer months of the year, but even then the children could not always attend regularly.

The Bales' managed to get their mail once a week by going the distance of nine miles to Erina. This was before the Ballagh post office was established.

Burwell, located on the Burlington Railroad, was the nearest town and occasionally they made the thirty-five mile trip to this town. This was a three day trip, one day to go, one day in town for business and shopping, and the third day to return home. The means of transportation was a lumber wagon pulled by a team of horses.

Part of their living was earned by milking cows and selling milk and cream. Dieting was unheard of in those days; they ate everything that was food and were glad to get it.

Jim Bales played the fiddle for many dances for the sum of $5.00 a night. Later the two boys also learned to play and they were much in demand as far away as Fort Hartsuff.

Emma Bales was a Sunday School teacher. Chairs were provided for adults only. When they prayed, they knelt beside the chairs.

Occasionally in the wintertime, work was put aside, and old "Doc and Dell" were hitched to a bobsled. With straw in the wagonbox, jugs of hot water and bricks to keep feet warm, and a quilt spread over all, they were on their way to visit the neighbors.

The constant fears of the early settlers were blizzards and prairie fires. When a fire was approaching, the children were hurried into the cave, taking plenty of water and blankets with them. Emma helped fight fires.

The blizzards of 1888, now famous, struck harder in Holt County than in any other part of Nebraska. When the worst blizzard in the history of the state struck on January 12, many people and hundreds of livestock were frozen to death. The snow started at 10 o'clock in the morning and continued furiously for over twenty-four hours. The snow was so fine that, in the vernacular of today's weathermen, visibility was zero. When Jim went to the barn to care for the stock, he tied a rope around his waist and fastened the other end of the rope to the house. This helped assure his safe return to the family. The Bales family of five came close to being numbered among the victims of the storm. When their fuel was entirely exhausted, they burned the straw from their bedticks. "We couldn't have held out much longer," Mr. Bales said.

On July 26, 1894, hot searing winds burned the grass off the face of Holt County. That did it, and the family made plans to move to Valley County. They bought a farm near Springdale (Now Ord) and moved there in January 1895. They raised excellent crops but received only ten cents per bushell for 3,000 bushels of corn.

Next, on February 28, 1901, they moved to Fort Hartsuff, three miles north of Elyria in Valley County, Nebraska. Four years later, Jim again "got the fever" as Emma put it, and on March 9, 1905, they moved to a community called Willow Springs, near Burwell in Garfield County, Nebraska.

Five years later, March 1, 1910 saw them moving to a farm eight miles from Burwell in Loup County. Misfortune followed, for one Sunday while the family and guests were seated around the table having their evening meal, a cyclone struck with great fury. Their crops, their house and everything in it were destroyed. Luckily, they came through this with only minor injuries. Soon a nice new house was built and they were ready to start over again.

One of the prized possessions lost in the tornado was a bureau made for Emma by her father. Edward Guardene Bailey with the help of Jim Bales had sawed the lumber from one of the great walnut trees growing along the creek. After the tornado, pieces of the bureau were gathered up and Ora Anderson made a pedestal from the salvaged scraps. Its history is written on a slip of paper pushed inside the pedestal. This stand is now in the possession of the Lowery family.

Life was not easy for Emma. With all her staunch character, moments of despondency crept in. Once she wrote, "I wonder where the next move will be, to the graveyard I expect, and be covered up with sand on the Calamus River." Yet, throughout all her writings runs the theme of the happy times they enjoyed with their neighbors and the visits exchanged with relatives and friends.

In the spring of 1919, they moved to Wewela, South Dakota. They bought property with a nice house on it and leased a quarter section of Indian land. They did not like it there and stayed only one year. In the spring of 1920 they "climbed into the old truck" to quote Emma, and headed for Morrill where two of their daughters lived. In Morrill, they did not like the high altitude or the irrigation farming. On January 23, 1921, they took the train for West Plains, Missouri, stopping enroute at Burwell to visit Josie and their old friends. They purchased a well-improved twenty acres with an orchard on it, but the rocks in Missouri were too much for them so in 1922 they moved back to western Nebraska.

In March 1925, they rented their farm near Mitchell and bought a five acre tract not far from Denver, Colorado, and moved there to be near their daughter, Anna, and her family. Farming was getting to be almost too much for Jim, who was 74 years of age now.

Emma wrote that daughters, Josie, Sadie, and Mamie, came to visit them in 1926 so she had her four girls together again. That fall, Jim and Emma went to Morrill to visit Sadie and Mamie. While there they were surprised with a family celebration in honor of their 50th wedding anniversary. "One of the happiest events in our lives," said Emma.

While visiting in Nebraska, they bought 160 acres of land on Owl Creek near Morrill and moved there in 1927.

They purchased a home at 725 L Street, Gering, Nebraska and moved there May 26, 1933. They spent their remaining years quietly and happily in this home. Mr. Bales was quoted as saying, "We've traveled around a lot, you'd have to hump to keep up with us, and we would still like to travel." This wonderful couple was greatly privileged to spend nearly sixty-four eventful years together.

JAMES IRVIN BALES died January 4, 1940 in his home in Gering, Nebraska. He is buried in Westlawn Cemetery in Gering. EMMA ARMENA BAILEY BALES died May 6, 1945 in Scottsbluff, Nebraska, at the home of her daughter, Anna Goodell, and was buried in Westlawn Cemetery on May 11, 1945.

7. JOSEPHINE MILDRED BALES LOWERY OF THE TENTH GENERATION

JOSEPHINE MILDRED BALES, always called "Josie," was born October 2, 1877, in Pottawattamie County, Iowa, the eldest child of James Irvin and Emma Armena Bailey Bales. The family home at that time was located on the west side of the West Nishabotna River, 6 miles north of Oakland and 6 miles south of Avoca in James Township.

Josie moved with her parents in a covered wagon to Primrose, Nebraska in 1883 and on to southern Holt County, Nebraska in 1886 where her father had taken a homestead and timber claim, and constructed their buildings of sod. She attended school in a tiny sod school house which had no floor or desks, but did have some homemade benches.

In later years, Josie wrote many papers telling of her life. In one paper she reminisced about how cold she got during the blizzard of 1888 even though wearing coats all day in the house, and how cold she was in bed after they took the hay out of her bedtick to burn in the stove. She also recalled another experience when they lived in Iowa. It was hilly country where they lived, just east of the school house where her Aunt Maggie Bailey went to school. She could remember going to school sometimes with Maggie who was only four years older. There were red Haw bushes full of red berries, and they stopped to eat. Aunt was afraid of the cows, but she wasn't.

In January 1895, Josie moved with her parents to Springdale (Ord), Valley County, Nebraska and was married the last of that year to James Baldwin Lowery in Ord, Valley County, Nebraska, on December 17, 1895. He was born in Mercer County, Illinois, October 11, 1866 to David Lowery and Lydia Ferguson Lowery. He was a farmer and a rancher.

They lived on the homestead Jim Lowery took in 1891 in northern Garfield County near the Ballagh Post Office and about 6 miles from her childhood home. All of their buildings were of sod. They improved and enlarged the ranch through the years, as have those who followed them. They planted many rows of trees which stand today, tall and beautiful, as a fitting monument to their industrious way of life.

The following tribute was written by Belva Cass Lowery:

TO JOSIE BALES LOWERY

Being the eldest child of James and Emma Bales, Josie Bales (Lowery) was keenly aware of the many hardships that were endured by pioneers through lack of funds and bodily comforts, but she was richly blessed in that her parents stressed that dignity, self respect, religion, learning, hygiene and pleasure need not be based upon material wealth. She learned thrift and compliance with existing situations. She dutifully walked barefoot to rural school, carrying her shoes to make them last, and was humbly grateful for the sacrifice her parents made to send her to high school in Burwell, 35 miles away, to get a teaching certificate. Her education did not stop in the classroom. All her life she eagerly sought knowledge, and read as much as time and materials at hand permitted.

Josie was hard working, progressive, generous and religious. She was a Bible student, a Sunday School teacher, midwife and club leader. She wrote news items for "The Burwell Tribune," "The Chambers Sun," "The Ericson Weekly" and "The Nebraska Farmer". Her first teaching wage of $18.00 per month was spent on an organ and the rest of her life she had an organ or piano in her home which she enjoyed playing. She sang at funerals. Early in her married life she learned photography, and took many pictures of historic occasions in the community, developing and finishing the pictures herself, some on glass negatives. She kept scrapbooks, and like her mother, was a letter keeper, some of which dated back to the Civil War. All of these interests led to a sense of history, and many of her notes were used to trace the events published in The Garfield County Roundup in 1967.

Josie never went calling without a gift in her hand, usually products of her own labor - fresh and canned fruits and vegetables, plants, flowers, baked goods, jelly or fresh meat, and no guest left her house without a similar offering.

Her religion was probably the most important thing in Josie's life. As she advanced in years, she spent many hours in her ministry of prayer from which we were all blessed for she often talked to God about each of us in turn. As a legacy to her descendants, she left the following message locked in her safe:

MY BELOVED CHILDREN AND YOUR CHILDREN

I want to meet you all in the spirit in heaven. You must prepare yourselves before it is too late.

Eye hath not seen nor ear heard the great wonders prepared for those who love the Lord.

The gospel to the unconverted is as foolishness, but to those who look to His appearing it is the power of the Lord unto salvation.

Believe on the Lord and you shall be saved. How can you know unless someone is sent?

O Children, put yourselves where you can learn the meaning of the gospel of Jesus....

The soul never dies, so put forth effort toward the heavenly life and not the other awful place. The decision rests with yourselves. Be willing and God's mercy will be given you.

Mother, in God's Love with many prayers for this.
(Sept. 22, 1962)

I learned so very much from Josie. She was a good instructor as well as my mother-in-law, and a very good friend. She died December 12, 1962.

JOSIE LOWERY PIONEER GRANDMOTHER

Josie Lowery is called Grandma by 'most everyone she knows.
She radiates grandmotherhood in every place she goes.
She sees the basic goodness in folks and what they do,
And expects from each his very best but allows for failure, too.

She has a natural wisdom and a great desire to know;
And has learned the secrets that make the flowers grow.
Bible facts and persons, she knows 'most every one;
And who is who in politics and the victories they have won.

She has an ear for music and could play the organ fine,
She led in club and Sunday School; was a mid-wife in her time;
She was rural news reporter for four papers, I recall,
But the roll of wife and mother was the center of it all.

Grandma is not a person to allow her mind to dwell
Upon her past experiences, but the stories she can tell
Can set the pulses racing or bring sympathizing tears
For she kept a mental diary of events throughout the years.

She rode in open wagons with hot stones at her feet,
And lived in small sod shanties with twisted hay for heat.
She received her early learning in a sod school with no floor.
She became a rural teacher, proud to teach her country's score.

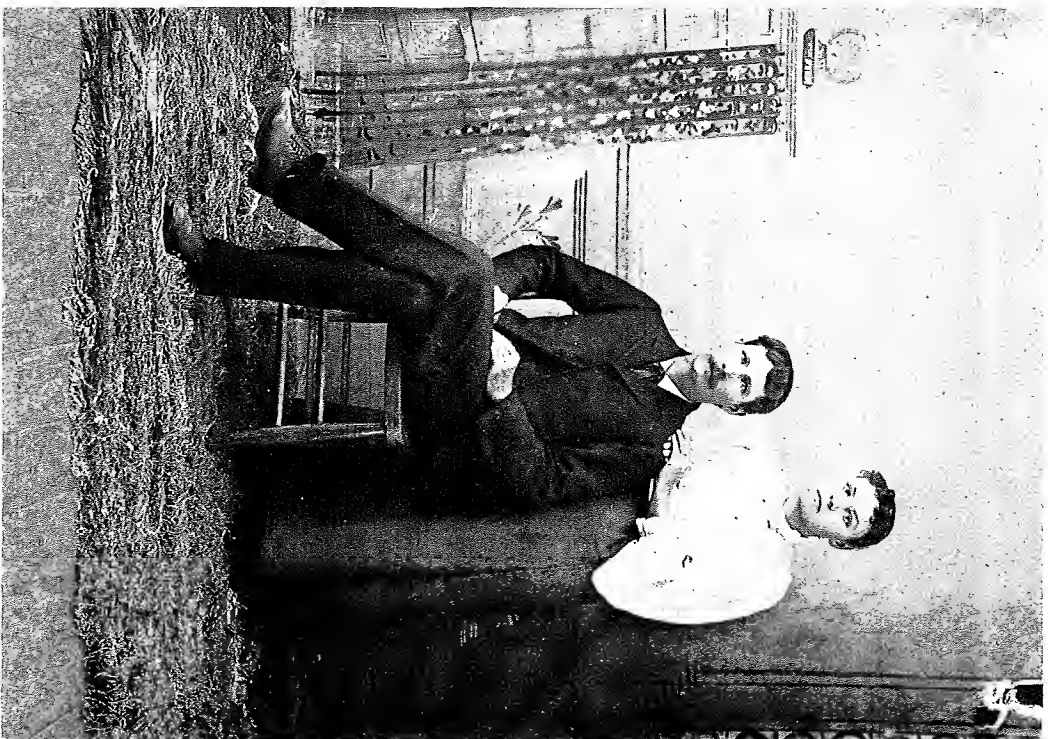

She recalls the awesome wonder of that storm of '88,
And drouth and prairie fires, and their power to devastate;
But the staggering loss and heartache from the elements can't compare
To the four wars she remembers and the loss of loved ones there.

Grassy mounds now dot the prairies where sod homes used to stand
Built by settlers on their homesteads while proving title to their land;
Grandma can tell you of them, their triumph and their woe,
For they were her friendly neighbors when they lived there long ago.

She has gladly welcomed the cars and aeroplane
And all the new inventions, but she cannot refrain
From remembering riding ponies, prancing teams and one-horse shays
And the lumbering covered wagons that were used in former days.

At 84 and looking backward at the triumphs life has brought Gently sifting out the lesser, nuggets left reflect this thought:
Trusting Jesus and His teachings as down life's path she trod,
She received her richest blessings from her fellowship with God.

Vernon Allen Lowery and Belva Grace Cass Lowery

He and his father were in a cattle ranching partnership until his father retired in 1947. He purchased the ranch from his father in 1950 and 1952. He then incorporated it and other land and cattle into The Lowery Ranch Company in 1968. Their three sons were rodeo contestants in their teens and twenty's. In 1970 they purchased a ranch and incorporated it into Lowery Brothers. The two ranches are run in one unified outfit with three separate headquarters.

The Lowery Ranches are certainly examples of what a lot of hard work and effort can do along with good management. The outstanding herd of cattle and extensive acres of grazing land speak to this point strongly. The three Lowery Ranches are located not too far from each other and in an area bordering the Sand Hills some 30 or 35 miles north mostly from Burwell, Nebraska.

Belva is a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution (D.A.R.) through the Cass side of the family. She has assisted in compiling a Cass family history which bespeaks her interest in genealogy. Both she and Vernon have talked for years about the possibility of a publication such as this one about the Bailey family. HENRY ALLEN BALES OF THE TENTH GENERATION

8. HENRY ALLEN BALES, third child of Emma Armenia Bailey Bales and James Irvin Bales was born in Oakland, Pottawattamie County, Iowa, May 28, 1880. He married Nellie May McKinney on December 24, 1917. She was born in San Jacinto, Riverside County, California on May 27, 1894. Henry Bales died at his home in Burwell, Garfield County, Nebraska on May 7, 1951. He and his wife were married 33 years.

At age 6, Henry moved with his parents to a homestead in southern Holt County, Nebraska, in 1886. He well remembered the pioneer days of his childhood and hardly a January 12 went by but what he retold about the blizzard of 1888 and how they had to break up and burn part of their furniture to keep from freezing to death. Many people did freeze to death in that violent storm.

Henry Allen & Nellie May McKinney Bales taken soon after their marriage and nearly thirty years later.

In 1895 the family moved to Valley County, Nebraska and later to a farm near Burwell in Garfield County. Henry was a young man now and he homesteaded a place on the Calamus River near where his parents lived at that time. The pioneer years taught him to be diligent about his work and to be very thrifty. In 1918 soon after he was married, he bought a farm in Tripp County, South Dakota. This place bordered the Nebraska state line. The family lived there until 1930 when they moved to a farm 3 miles north of Burwell. In 1959 he sold this farm and retired to Burwell.

Henry was one of the first to put in irrigation when the dry years hit in the early 30's. His place was right on the river and he pumped water to his fields. Ray Goehring, the man who purchased the farm from Henry continues to keep up the permit from the state to pump water from the North Loup River. Henry sold gravel for the first paved streets in Burwell and with this money purchased his first tractor. However, he had always taken pride in his horses and had some good teams. When he had his farm sale it was especially hard for him to see his horses go.

Henry Bales was a well respected man in his community and his judgement was often sought by other people. He could play the violin well, as did his father before him. In the years before his marriage, he, his father, and brother James played for dances. In later years, Henry and his sons would sometimes play in the evenings for their own entertainment. Jim and Allen play the violin a little but their talents lie more to the guitar and banjo. His son, Allen, now has the violin which Henry owned at the time of his death. Not long before he died, Henry sold the violin on which he had become so well known for his fiddling. Roy Nightengale, a citizen of Burwell, purchased this instrument for one hundred dollars.

Henry was a quiet man who stayed home and tended to business. He traveled but little in his lifetime. He made a few trips to western Nebraska to visit his parents and sisters and in 1937 took his family on a trip to Minnesota. He visited along the way with the Dakota relatives on the Bailey side. In 1950 they visited family and friends in California. Nellie McKinney Bales now resides at Route 2, North Loup, Nebr. 68859.

SARAH SOPHIA BALES HISE OF THE TENTH GENERATION

9. SARAH SOPHIA BALES HISE, always called "Sadie," fifth child of Emma Bailey Bales and James Irvin Bales, was born Sept. 17, 1885 in Dublin (now Primrose) Boone County, Nebraska. She married George Bradford Hise on January 20, 1904 in Ord, Valley County, Nebraska. He was born on September 17, 1879 in Luray, Clark County, Missouri, the only child of James Tillman Hise and Nancy Elizabeth Mattley Hise. His father died of pneumonia when George was 18 months old. The boy, at age 6, began helping his mother make a living for the two of them by selling popcorn balls. At this tender age, he was challenged to overcome hardships and trials. He became a courageous soul that surmounted all. When George was twenty, he and his mother both seeing better opportunities "out west" moved to Garfield County, Nebraska in 1899, where they filed on adjoining homesteads 4 miles east of Burwell.

As an infant, Sadie Bales moved with her parents, sister Josie, and brother Henry to Southern Holt County in Nebraska, where they experienced all the rigors and denials of pioneering. Historians tell us that it was not the extremely poor people who migrated westward. The ones who traveled to the frontier had to have good horses and a durable wagon, large supplies of foodstuffs and equipment, at least a little money, and of course, boundless energy and ambition. We owe them much!

In her later years, Sadie wrote in retrospect, that "The old homestead has long since disappeared; this land was never meant to be farmed. It has now gone back to grass and is a paradise for cattle." Another interesting paper about her life on the homestead is her long list of "Things We Had." Just a part of this word picture is given here: Sand too hot for bare feet, sandburrs, tumble weeds, straw ticks for the beds, prairie chickens, quail and grouse; a twenty-foot sand blowout to roll and play in, a rain barrel (not much water in it but oh, how much fun to holler down); cornmeal mush, sometimes with raisins; popcorn with milk and raisins, 'slip-go-down' - a white lumpy gravy made with egg and flour thickening (a wonder it didn't kill us); a big jar of honey on the top pantry shelf - used mostly for medicine when we had a bad cough, a very large wooden bucket of apple jelly from the store, dried apples, plums, sweet-corn and pumpkin; wild berries, lye hominy, spearment tea, sour dough pancakes, sassafras tea to thin the blood after a long cold winter; a big wheese mold, a dasher churn - we thought the butter would never come so we sang "Come Butter, Come," stick candy once every three months or so, when we went to town, a little old cream check, a grindstone we turned by hand, a cob room inclosed on the porch, a walking plow, traveling peddlers selling their wares, flies - and no spray, sand fleas, homemade soap and a big iron kettle to make it in, prairie fires, blizzards, a dinner bell that clanged in code - 2 taps would mean the cow is out - 5 taps meant company is coming, Pa, a whole darn wagon load; bustles and choker collars, hair rats, sunbonnets, tin tableware with bone handles, a few books, sulphur and molasses when we were sick, wild flowers to pick - bluebells, yellow sweet peas, and many more.

When Sadie was 9 years old, the family moved to Valley County, Nebraska where she grew to womanhood. It was the fashion in those days to have play parties. The young people gathered at old Fort Hartsuff where there was plenty of room and huge fireplaces. They would sing and dance to the tunes of Skip To My Lou, Miller Boy, Old Dan Tucker, Little Brown Jug, The Needles Eye, and the Little Reg Wagon. They played such games as Blind Man's Bluff, Run Sheep Run, Pump Pump Pull Away, Crack the Whip and the new card games called Flinch and Old Maid. They had spelling bees, debating societies, literaries, hay rides, taffy pulls, horse racing, ball games, box suppers, skating parties, shooting matches, husking bees, and once in a blue moon the Ringling Brothers Circus would come to town.

Sarah (Sadie) Sophia Bales Hise and George Bradford Hise on their wedding day and 50 years later on their Golden Wedding Anniversary.

Years later Sadie wrote, "Few children were born so rich in poverty." She also wrote, "One night my best friend gave a party and I fell in love with a wonderful new man at the party. We ate from one plate, one cup, one spoon as we were supposed to do. My first time eating Jello dessert."

The lives of a couple who live together over fifty years become so inextricably woven together that is it impossible to write of one without the other. After their marriage, George and Sadie lived in a sod house on his homestead. Later they and his mother who lived with them for 45 years, moved to Burwell, an up-and-coming little town with plank walks and hitching posts. George was an auctioneer and a building contractor. In fact, he tried his hand at many things - a true pioneer spirit if there ever was one. He was fire chief for 9 years and served on the Town Board for many years. In 1919 they moved to Morrill, a thriving little town in western Nebraska where he was a successful realtor until the boom days became depression days. The family, as most everyone else of the times, weathered the crises. Never daunted, George always managed to make a living with imagination and flair, and at the same time helped others along the way.

Sadie was a member of the Methodist Church. She joined the Rebekah Lodge in Burwell in 1912 and served as Noble Grand several times, both in Burwell and in Morrill. She was District Deputy Grand President at Morrill in 1930. The Decoration of Chivalry was conferred on Sadie in 1946 and she was a member of this lodge for 53 years. She also belonged to the Order of Eastern Star and W.C.T.U.

While Sadie was still a young woman, a gradual loss of hearing began and progressed until it eventually became a one hundred percent loss. As time went on, she became introspective; she was always well-read and knowledgeable on many subjects. In spite of almost total deafness, she developed her talents and was a very creative person, sharing the fruits of her mind, heart and hands with everyone whose path crossed hers. She was skilled in oil painting and used a wide variety of media to carry out her art and craft ideas. Because it was difficult for her to communicate verbally with others, she poured out her thoughts on paper. She had many articles and poems printed in local newspapers for her family's pleasure. She once wrote, "Those who overcome their handicaps and take their place in the world are transformed by a depth of spirit that others can hardly measure...we haven't wasted our pain; we have a closeness to God that few so-called normal people have experienced. Self-pity destroys personality. We must accept ourselves and make the most of what we have... attitude can make the difference between success and failure, happiness or unhappiness."

In 1929 the Hises purchased a farm in Gering, almost at the foot of the Scotts Bluff National Monument. They built a home and lived there the next 20 years. It was on this place that they had so much trouble getting water but it never occurred to them to leave because of this problem. Sadie's "Story of our Wells" is most interesting to read.

They built their last home at 1424 17th Avenue in Scottsbluff and moved there in 1949. Sadie and George celebrated their golden anniversary on Sunday, Jan. 24, 1954. Plans for an open house had to be dropped due to the illness of Mr. Hise but the immediate family spent the day with them and there was much reminiscing of days long gone. One of the many pictures taken that day was of Mrs. Allen Kelley, most recent bride in the family, modeling Sadie's wedding dress.

George Hise died July 22, 1957. Sadie Bales Hise died July 9, 1965. Both are buried in the Westlawn Cemetery, Gering, Nebraska.

INEZ MAUDE HISE KELLEY OF THE ELEVENTH GENERATION

32. INEZ MAUDE HISE KELLEY, first child of Sarah Sophia (Sadie) Bales Hise and George Bradford Hise was born Jan. 26, 1905 in Burwell, Garfield County, Nebraska. She married Ellis John Kelley Nov. 24, 1926 in Scottsbluff, Scotts Bluff County, Nebraska. He was born Dec. 11, 1903 in Ash Grove, Greene County, Missouri, the son of Edward Robert Kelley and Bertha Natrulia Waddle Kelley. Ellis John Kelley died Aug. 13, 1953 in Scottsbluff, Nebraska. He was buried Aug. 17, 1953 in Valley View Cemetery in Torrington, Wyoming.

Inez moved with her parents from Burwell to Morrill, Nebraska in 1919. She graduated from Morrill High School in 1923 and attended the University of Nebraska the following year. In the fall of 1924 she entered the teaching profession in a three-pupil school near Ardmore, South Dakota. She drove a horse and buggy to school which was a new experience indeed for a girl who had always lived in town. The next year she rode horseback ten miles each day. The next three years she taught the upper grades in a consolidated two-teacher school near Morrill, Nebr., where many of her students were almost as old as she was. Then - time out to rear a family of three. The family lived at various times in Morrill, Nebr., Cheyenne, Wyo. and Lingle, Wyo.

They purchased a farm ten miles west of Torrington in 1943 and moved there in 1945. In 1954, 25 years after her last teaching experience, a job came her way and she started teaching again. Her family was now grown and she was widowed. After 3 years in a small rural school she accepted a position in the elementary school in Lingle, Wyoming. She taught the second grade thirteen years, being principal of the grade school for four years. Along with a full time teaching assignment, she earned college credits at the University of Wyoming, Chadron State Teachers College and Goshen County Community College (now called Eastern Wyoming College). She received a Bachelor of Arts Degree from the Univ-versity of Wyoming in 1961 at the age of 53. This did not seem at all strange as the colleges were full of middle-aged women who were completing their educations after they had raised families. She is a member of Kappa Delta Pi National Education Honor Society and her name appears in the 1970 edition of "Outstanding Educators of America," chosen on the basis of civic and professional achievements. For several years she was a supervising teacher of student teachers from the University of Wyoming. She retired in 1970 but has retained her interest in the field of education. She still does considerable substitute teaching and for a time did some teaching in the Adult Education Department at Eastern Wyoming College.

She has been a licensed real estate salesman in the State of Wyoming since 1962. She belongs to the Methodist Church of Torrington, the Eastern Star, a Study Club and American Legion Auxiliary in Lingle, the Rebekah Lodge in Cheyenne, the University of Wyoming Alumni Association, and the D.A.R. (Daughters of the American Revolution) in Scottsbluff, Nebr. Any female descendant of Emma Bailey Bales may join D.A.R. on Inez Kelley's number. Write to her.

She went on several geography tours sponsored by Chadron State Teachers College. These trips included all of the western states, Mexico and Hawaii; central and western Canada and Alaska, the southern and eastern states and the Bahama Islands, southeast Canada, the New England States and Washington D.C.; the European countries of France, The Netherlands, Germany, Austria, Switzerland, Italy, Spain, Portugal, Isle of Capri, and England.

After her husband's premature death, Inez stayed on at the farm, living there alone for 20 years. She sold the place in 1973 and moved into a new home located at 2426 Main St., Torrington, Wyo. 82240.

Children born to ELLIS JOHN KELLEY and INEZ MAUDE HISE KELLEY:

- (1) ALLEN DEE KELLEY, first child of Inez Maude Hise Kelley and Ellis John Kelley of the eleventh generation, was born Nov. 15, 1930 in Wheatland, Platte County, Wyoming. He started to school at age 4 in Morrill, Nebr. In 1936 he moved with his parents to Cheyenne, Laramie County, Wyo. where he attended the lower elementary grades. The family then moved to Lingle, Goshen County, Wyo. in 1939. As a child living in a small town during World War II days and at a time when available labor forces were at an all time low, Allen hoed beans and picked potatoes in the fields. For this patriotic work he received a U.S. Corp Corps Certificate of Service.

Taking piano lessons for a year when he was a fifth grader was not one of his loves. His first recital program finished that phase of his education. He graduated from the eighth grade in 1944. Even though he had the measles at the time, the school officials requested his presence so, with the doctor's permission he attended graduation exercises. His diploma was signed by the same County Superintendent who signed his mother's 8th grade diploma. In 1945 he moved with his parents to a farm 10 miles west of Torrington, Wyo. Farm life was a new experience for the entire family.

Allen participated in FFA and 4-H Club work and won many ribbons and cash prizes with his registered Berkshire pigs. This project alone netted him almost enough money to pay for his first year in college. He was a charter member of DeMolay, Max Burk Chapter in Torrington. He graduated from Torrington High School in 1948 in a class of 87 members. He was awarded a Sear-Roeback Foundation Scholarship and attended the University of Wyoming as an agricultural major. He transferred to the Methodist Church in Torrington in 1951 but later joined the Lutheran Church.

He entered the U.S. Marine Corps Sept. 16, 1951 as a selective service volunteer. He took basic training in San Diego, Calif. and was assigned to Demolition and Mine Warfare School at Camp Lejeune, No. Carolina. He then went to Camp Pendleton for advanced infantry training which all Marines take, after which he was transferred to Korea and assigned to A. Company, 1st. Engineer Battalion, 1st Marine Division. While in Korea his primary duty was to detect and disarm land mines when on reconnaissance patrols in the heavily mined "No Man's Land." One of his more exciting days was when he was assigned to take part in a raid on a strongly held enemy position called Taedaksan which was part of the Chinese Main Line of Resistance. Forty-seven percent of the Marines taking part in that raid became casualties in a period of 3 hours. In some places the opposing positions were only 300 yards apart. He attended N.C.O. School in Korea for several weeks and was then assigned to duty as an instructor in demolition warfare. Quote, "We were allowed only one mistake." He was awarded a medal with Combat "V" in recognition of heroic services in Korea and was given a special meritorious promotion. At the end of his tour of duty, he returned to the U.S. aboard the U.S. General John Pope.

Allen married Audrey Lou Perryman Aug. 22, 1953 in Torrington, Goshen County, Wyo. The service was performed by the Rev. William Borneman in the English Lutheran Church of Our Savior. Audrey was born Sept. 2, 1933 in Torrington to John Luke Perryman and Esther Caroline Miller Perryman, who were in the grocery business for many years. Audrey graduated from Torrington High School in 1951. She was a member of the National Honor Society and took part in Band and Pep Club. She attended Chadron State Teachers College where she was a member of Zeta Alpha Sorority and the Lutheran Student Association. She played the clarinet in the college band and the Studio Band. At the time of her marriage, she was employed by Kellam Drug in Torrington, Wyo.

After his discharge from the Marine Corps, Allen took over his parents farm because of the ill health of his father. He was engaged in farming and livestock feeding for the next 5 years. He was then employed as District Supervisor of County Weed and Pest Control in Goshen County, Wyo. Part of his work was to give talks to Ag classes in the various high schools in the county. He was frequently called upon to give illustrated lectures at different ag meetings. One time he was on the program at a five state meeting in Denver.

In March 1965 he was employed by the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture and was appointed Agricultural Research Technician at the Irrigated Agriculture Research and Extension Center located in Prosser, Wash. He has maintained this position to the present time. In part, his work is to find and devise better methods of aquatic weed control and to determine the effect of herbicides on growth and yield of crops. In research there are no two days alike - improvising and imagination are the tools of the trade. He has authored and co-authored several government bulletins. To qualify for the job in Prosser, he was required to learn Scuba (self-contained underwater breathing apparatus). Allen was always a very good swimmer, at one time being on the swim team at the University of Wyoming so Scuba was right in his line. As a grand finale, the course demanded what was called a graduation dive. This was accomplished in the Pacific Ocean off the coast of San Juan Island. After completing his training he became a certified Scuba Diver. Because the Columbia Basin in Central and Eastern Washington was once a part of the Great American Desert, and there is still much unclaimed land there, the research divers have sometimes been referred to as "Desert Divers." These scientist in their wet-suits are making great progress in their studies of insidious aquatic weeds in the 100-foot wide irrigation channels and in the smaller canals.

Possessing seemingly unlimited energy, Allen launched a sideline business of spraying weeds and insects. He operated the Valley Weed Control Service until it became too time consuming to carry on in addition to his regular job at the Research Center. After selling his spray business, he took on a short term moonlighting job in the scale house at the Kraft Grape Processing Plant. In a few weeks each fall, he earned enough to provide the family with a few "extras."

For several years Allen took an active part in the leadership of the Boy Scout Webelos group both in Torrington and in Prosser. He likes to spend some of his spare time doing oil painting. The Kelleys are good workers in the Messiah Lutheran Church of Prosser. They own their own home and reside at 951 Alice St., Prosser, Wash. 99350.

He is an industrious young man, shows artistic ability, and likes to play the guitar and accordion. He is employed at the Agriculture Research Center in Prosser.

She belonged to Job's Daughters in Torrington and now is a member of the Order of Eastern Star in Torrington.

She graduated from Torrington High School in 1950 and attended Goshen County Community College (now called Eastern Wyoming College). She worked in the Dean's office the next fall.

She married William Frederick Werkele July 22, 1951 in the Methodist Church of Torrington where both are members. He was born July 12, 1932 in Bayard, Morrill County, Nebr. to Fred and Lydia Schmidt Werkele. Before their marriage they came in one night, awakened her parents and announced their engagement. Mom, thinking 18 was a little young to embark upon the sea of matrimony, sleepily announce, "Not until you own a house." That will do it, she thought to herself. But - she underestimated the resourcefulness of this nice young man. The next day, Bill took his savings and made a substantial down payment on a home in Torrington. They have owned their own homes ever since.

At age 18, Bill started working for the Wyoming Highway Dept. He was transferred from Torrington to Laramie, Wyo. in 1960 and was survey chief for 5 years. They lived there until he was promoted to the Wyoming Highway headquarters office in Cheyenne. He was assigned to the Contracts and Estimates Branch as an Engineering Technician. Jean and her husband are friendly, warm-hearted people and their home is always filled with friends and relatives.

Dan has lived in Wyoming all of his life and went to schools in Torrington, Laramie, and Cheyenne. He attended a private kindergarten in Torrington. He belonged to 4-H and FFA and was on a judging team. He graduated from Cheyenne East High School in a class of 365 members. Being faced with the uncertainty of the draft lottery and having a number in the lower third, he tried out many occupations during the next 2 years. Among the jobs he tried his hand at were installing high TV aerials, sugar cutting at the Holly Factory, working for housing construction company, installing tires on big machines such as highway machinery, a hamburger drive-in, a Guest Dude Ranch, and his favorite of all, punchboard operator for Kraft Processing Company. He is now assistant manager of the variety department in Grand Central Store in Cheyenne.

He married Marilyn Kay Cronk Feb. 14, 1973 in Cheyenne, Laramie County, Wyo. She is the daughter of Paul Herman Miller and Florence King Miller of Lingle, Wyo. JAMES EDWARD HISE OF THE ELEVENTH GENERATION

33. JAMES EDWARD HISE, always called Eddie or Ed, second child of Sarah Sophia (Sadie) Bales Hise and George Bradford Hise, was born Feb. 13, 1906 in Burwell, Garfield County, Nebr. He attended shcool in Burwell until 1917, then moved to Wyoming with his parents where his father homesteaded on the Cheyenne River about 50 miles from Newcastle. That was in the days when the oil fields were opening up but Lady Luck passed them by. In 1919 the family moved to Morrill, Scotts Bluff County, Nebr. where Ed graduated from high school in 1926. He was an outstanding athlete, playing football on a team that is still locally famous for its achievements. They were undefeated for 2 years and 14 games were played with no score being made against them. Ed was Captain of the team. He was All State Tackle one year and Western Conference Tackle for 3 years. In his junior year, Ed was president of his class and he played the trombone in the high school band. He attended American Business College in Omaha.

Ed farmed with his father for 3 years in the middle 20's. Irrigation had just been brought to the south side of the North Platte River. They broke 1600 acres of sod south of Morrill which they planted to wheat. He moved to Gering, Nebr. in 1930 with his parents and soon after was employed by Chester B. Brown Company who was constructing a dry bean elevator in Gering. Dry beans was a new crop in the North Platte Valley at that time and as a field man, Ed promoted the planting of beans. He has been a good public relations man ever since. He received beans at the Minatare Plant and helped build the Bayard Elevator. He became manager of the Gering Elevator in 1940 and has continued in that capacity for a period of 34 years. He retired in 1974. The Gering Jaycees honored Ed in 1968 by naming him Boss of the Year. He has always been held in high esteem and loved by all who know him.

James Edward Hise

Elizabeth Johnson Hise

Ed Hise married Elizabeth Adeline Johnson Sept. 27, 1936 in Scottsbluff, Nebr. She was born December 16, 1912 in Clarks, Merrick County, Nebr. to Leslie Benton Johnson and Anna Mary Heleman Johnson. Elizabeth graduated from Gering High School in 1931 and at the time of her marriage was employed as a receptionist and assistant in a Gering doctor's office. She can trace her family lineage back to 1612 in England. Her Revolutionary ancestor is Benjamin Johnson, a drummer boy in Col. George Reed's Regiment.

Ed and his wife are both enthusiastic Rock Hounds and are always generous in sharing their "finds". They belong to the Rock Club and have done some lapidary work. Elizabeth likes antiques and has a collection of them. Ed is a member of the Masonic Lodge and the Lion's Club. They belong to St. Timothy's Episcopal Church.

Ed has an inventive mind. One of the first indications of this was as a child helping plant the onion patch, he put the tiny seeds in a salt shaker. A tap here and a tap there and all was taken care of. All his life he has devised methods of accomplishing certain results. He is the inventor of a complicated piece of machinery. He and his only brother have shared so much in life. They have many mutual interests and are staunchly loyal to each other. They are closer than many brothers are ever privileged to be. Ed and his sister, Inez, have spent over 50 Christmas family gatherings together.

Ed and Elizabeth live at 30 Ridge Road, Gering, Nebr. 69341. Their home is located in a subdivision which was formerly the farm owned by his father. Ed was instrumental in developing this area.

KENNETH GEORGE HISE OF THE ELEVENTH GENERATION

34. KENNETH GEORGE HISE, third child of Sarah Sophia (Sadie) Bales Hise and George Bradford Hise, was born Nov. 11, 1908 in Burwell, Garfield County, Nebr. In 1917 he moved with his parents to Newcastle, Weston County, Wyo. where land was being opened up for homesteading on what was hoped to be oil producing land. Years later, after the Hises and most others left it to the sagebrush and the rattlesnakes, this did become oil country. The family moved to Morrill, Scotts Bluff County, Nebr. in 1919 where Ken's father was associated with a realty company.

While Ken was in high school he participated in football and track. He was a member of the still remembered football team that played 14 consecutive games without a score against them and was undefeated for 2 years. Ken was president of his senior class and he played the saxophone and other reed instruments in a popular dance band. He graduated from Morrill High School in 1928 and attended the American Business College in Omaha the next 2 years. While in Omaha he worked in the Glendale Mortuary and the Henshaw Cafeteria to help pay his own way in college.

He moved with his parents to Gering, Nebr. in 1930. He was married Jan. 16, 1938 to Maxine Ione Laudenslager in Scottsbluff, Scotts Bluff County, Nebr. in the home of her parents. She was born April 21, 1913, to Louie Floyd Laudenslager and Hazel Adele Hess Laudenslager in Wahoo, Saunders County, Nebr. At the time of her marriage, Maxine was employed as secretary and clerk in the District Health Office in Gering. She was a charter member of Job's Daughters in Scottsbluff. Ken had been living in Kennewick,

Kenneth and Maxine Hise

Washington for a year, so the young couple left for that state soon after their wedding. Ken and his brother, Ed, removed 1400 apple trees and 600 pear trees to clear 60 acres for farming. This country was formerly a big apple producing area but the orchardists had sprayed many of the trees with lead arsenic which eventually killed them and made the soil bad. An agronomist has predicted that it may take 200 years before fruit trees can again be productive on this land. In the meantime, grapes, hops, vegetables and many other crops are grown here. The 60 acres that Ken and Ed cleared is now within the city limits of Kennewick and is a housing subdivision. Ken and Maxine returned to Scottsbluff one year later to the day and hour. Ken began working at the Ford Garage.

Ken was employed at Consolidated Aircraft in San Diego from 1942 until 1945 where he was a leadman in the experimental department. He designed two technical tools which are still being used at Consolidated. In 1945 the family returned to Scottsbluff and Ken went to work for Lockwood Grader Company. He took flying lessons and made his first solo flight Feb. 24, 1948. He continued in Lockwood's employ as shop foreman, salesman, and general manager until 1949.

Along with other members of the Hise family, Ken formed a corporation in 1959 and started the Bellevue Homes addition to Gering. This subdivision is located on what was once the George Hise farm situated almost at the foot of the Scotts Bluff National Monument. The project required $3,500 of dynamite (pre-inflation price) to get the service lines through the brule clay soil. By the time Ken had detonated this dynamite, he was an expert in handling explosives. Ken had been well taught by his father in the techniques of blasting. Ken also did most of the heavy construction in developing the site. His brother, Ed, helped by working evenings, weekends, and holidays for years and he also provided a great deal of financial aid. The corporation built a 30-unit trailer court on part of the land. The whole project was an enormous project for all the family. They may not be able to tell you how to subdivide, but they can certainly tell you how not to subdivide.

In 1965 Ken purchased land and also filled in a canyon on which he built his own trailer court. They now have 20 attractive lots. Ken is retired but manages to keep more than busy with the two courts.

Ken is witty and has an outgoing personality; he and Maxine have friends galore. He likes outdoor recreations and belongs to the Panhandle Rock Club. He is a charter member of the Nebraska Panhandle Humane Society and is on the Board of Directors. He belongs to the Masonic and Eastern Star Organizations. They are members of the Methodist Church in Scottsbluff and have always taken part in church and community activities. Maxine spent 14 years as local treasurer and District Treasurer of the Women's Society of Christian Service. Reside #1 Valley Hi Court, Gering, Nebr. 69341.

She moved with her parents to Newcastle, Weston County, Wyo. in 1917 and to Morrill, Scotts Bluff County, Nebr. in 1919. In high school she was a cheer leader and participated in class plays, a dance band and chorus. Anything musical - she was sure to be a part of it. In 1928 she appeared as a soloist on the first radio program broadcast from Morrill and beamed to local audiences. The program, put on exclusively by local talent, received 100 telephone calls of congratulations. She was a regular member on that program as long as it was on the air. She graduated from Morrill High School in 1929 and moved with her parents to Gering, Nebr. in 1930. She married Scott Evan Allison Nov. 24, 1931 in

Leona Imogene Hise Allison

Scott Evan Allison

Scottsbluff, Scotts Bluff County, Nebr. on her sister's anniversary. He was born May 20, 1909 to James Clayton Allison and Bess Adele Chable Allison in Thayer, Union County, Iowa. He graduated from Gering High School in 1927 and was employed by Consumer's Electric Power Company. He is a practical electrical engineer with many years experience as Chief Engineer in power plants located in western Nebraska and western Colorado. He was with Phillips Petroleum (later known as Idaho Nuclear Corporation) in Idaho Falls, Idaho for 15 years. His work was in Research and Development of Nuclear Energy. For several years he was Foreman in Mechanical Services in the maintenance of power plants and auxiliaries. Later he often installed samples in reactors in addition to being a technician in charge of preventive maintenance. He has retired and is now helping to improve and operate the Bellevue Trailer Court in Gering, Nebraska. During World War II years, Scott's work took him and his family to many different places in the western states. When they lived in Vancouver, Washington, Jean worked as a clerk in an electrical office. In Chadron, Nebr. she was a member of the Community Chorus, the Community Little Theatre Group, and Beta Sigma Phi Sorority. She is or has been a member of a Women's Federated Club, the Order of the Eastern Star of which she is a Past Matron, and the Rebekah Lodge. She is a member of DAR (Daughters of the American Revolution) in Scottsbluff, Nebr. The family belongs to the Methodist Church and Jean has held many church offices. In every town in which they have lived, she was a chairwoman of all church activities that called for talent and ideas. She has many good traits which have won her numerous warm friends. While in Rangely, Colo. she was sponsor of Epsilon Sigma Alpha, a cultural National Sorority. She was active in Job's Daughters, Girl Scouts, and Cub Scouts while her children were growing up. She has a flair for words and she wrote a weekly column called "From Cabbages to Kings," for the "Rangely Driller Newspaper." In Idaho Falls she was a hostess for the city, in charge of Western Greeters. She worked through the Chamber of Commerce and an advertising agency. She welcomed all newcomers to the city and presented them with gifts. Jean has taken art, piano and organ lessons, and has had some instruction in flying planes. She learned to tie flies that fishermen use and sold them through a Sporting Goods Store. She is currently employed as a saleswoman and secretary for the Stahla Mobile Homes in Gering, Nebraska.

Scott Allison's hobby is violin making and he is a member of the International Violin and Guitar Makers Association. He started with an instruction book c.1860, which he located in the Idaho Falls Library. He soon discovered that to make a violin, it takes more than an instruction book. He made the acquaintance of an old time fiddler who showed him the little things not found in a book. It took Scotty 6 months to make his first violin, which he named the Chable I after his French grandfather. The wood for his violin came from Germany and had been air-dried for thirty years. The finished violin is a masterpiece of grained maple with ebony fingerboard and inlay tracing the ribs of the instrument. This violin has been appraised by experts who placed a high value on it. Scott became so well versed in the history of violin making that he was asked to speak on the subject to the Symphony Auxiliary of Idaho Falls. He has made a total of 7 violins and fervently hopes that he will eventually find more time to devote to this fascinating work. Reside: Route 2, Gering, Nebr. 69341.

"Zoe" is an old family name on the Allison side of the family and means "life." She was born in a storm and has had stormy passions about every good cause. She has proved to be a joyous example of life, creative and gifted in many ways. A sensitive and responsive person, she has shared her response to life with everyone who knows her. A class of elementary children was asked with whom they got along best. Zoe won - hands down.

James and Iva Florence Wetzel Boyce were married Mar. 5, 1913 in Ord, Valley County, Nebr. She was born Aug. 24, 1892 in Wallace Creek Township, Greeley, Greeley County, Nebr. to John Jacob Wetzel and Sarah Honeycutt Wetzel. Iva had a daughter, Lucille Belle Boyce, by a previous marriage. 11. MARY ALICE BALES (always called MAMIE) seventh child of Emma Armenia Bailey Bales and James Irvin Bales, was born July 18, 1890 near Ballagh, Garfield County, Nebr. She was married to James Monroe Craig, Jr. at Burwell, Nebr. on April 19, 1911. He was born July 15, 1890 at Plattsmouth, Cass County, Nebraska to James Monroe Craig and Emma Jane Hall Craig. (His father was born Dec. 9, 1854 in Ohio and died July 25, 1934 in Morrill, Scotts Bluff County, Nebr. His mother was born in Osceola, Iowa on Jan. 22, 1863 and died July 7, 1942 in Morrill, Nebr.)

Mamie recalls many episodes from her childhood days, one of which is the swing they had tied to a limb over the water tank. They all loved to stand on the edge of the tank and swing up, over and away. One day the rope broke and Mamie went to the bottom of the tank. Her sister, Sadie, saw it happen and ran to rescue Mamie from her watery predicament. Mamie rode horseback (side-saddle) to high school in Burwell. One day she came home and found that her father had bought a piano for her. Mamie cried for joy and still has that piano today. She and two of her friends, Clara and Mae Collison, wanted to take piano lessons. They found a teacher 3 miles away so each week the girls would drive a horse and buggy to the teacher's home. In the summer time, Mamie's brother, Henry, would go to their sister Josie's near Erina some 30 miles north to help put up hay. Mamie went along to care for Josie's small son, Martin. One time there was a heavy rain and Cedar Creek was high. When they drove the team and buggy across the creek the water came up into the buggy and washed Henry's violin away. He waded in after it.

Mary Alice Bales has been called "Mamie" all of her life. It all started because there were four Marys in her school and the teacher asked permission to call this one Mamie. It became official at long last when on the 4th day of June, 1942, Mamie got an affidavit from her mother, Emma Bales, giving her the privilege of changing her name to Mamie.

Mamie and Jim Craig made a career of farming. They farmed near Burwell, Nebr. for 5 years after their marriage; went to Kimball County, Nebr. to raise wheat during World War I; and have lived on farms near Morrill, Nebr. since 1919. Just one time did they falter a little. During the middle 30's this country was plagued by extreme drouth and terrible dust storms. Much of the prairie soil had been broken for miles around and was highly susceptible to wind erosion. When the dust in the air became so thick that visibility was practically zero, the wind storms were called "black blizzards." This coupled with the country's slow recovery from the great financial Depression was just too much. The Craig's moved to Kennewick, Washington but after one season, family ties and love for their home area brought them back to Morrill. They are now located one mile north of Morrill on Route 1, zip code, 69358. Their grandson, Jamie Dickinson, farms their place.

Mamie has led a busy life. She was a 4-H Club Leader for 8 years while her daughters were actively involved in this work. She has belonged to the Extension Home Economics Service for 40 years. She was a Sunday School teacher of young people for many years; all of the family belong to the Methodist Church. She has been a member of Rebekah Lodge No.269 in Morrill since 1921. Mamie plays the piano well and has been musician for this organization for 17 years. She taught school 15 years, 10 of which were after her family was raised. Mamie and her daughters, Dorothy and Alice, taught at different times at the same school in Liberty District; Dorothy in 1932, Alice in 1940, and Mamie in 1944. Mamie considers this to be a Ripley "Believe It or Not".

Hospitality is an outstanding trait in the Bales family and Mamie displays it to the fullest. Everyone is sure of a hearty welcome to her home and family and friends often gather there.

Jim and Mamie Craig were married 50 years on April 19, 1961. The observance of this event was postponed to Sunday June 18th to enable all their children and grandchildren to be present at the celebration. Over 250 friends and relatives called to wish them well. An even more important milestone in their lives was attained when they celebrated their 60th anniversary in 1971. A special feature of this celebration was that Mamie wore the same gown in which she was married six decades before. They quietly observed their 63rd anniversary in this year of 1974 and have more than equaled the record set by her parents for a long life together. She is the only one of the Bales children to do this.

Mamie has given a lifetime of devotion to her family. For three years she lovingly cared for her bedridden mother-in-law who had suffered a paralytic stroke. Her husband, Jim, has been in poor health since he became the victim of diabetes at age 68. She has unselfishly attended to his every need. One of Jim's sisters died of the disease just months before insulin was discovered. Jim had a gall bladder operation at age 81 which improved his health to some extent. Since her retirement from teaching school, Mamie's mind and hands have not been idle. She has crocheted six lace tablecloths and twenty-seven afghans, including one for each of her children and grandchildren. She has written and compiled many articles for her "Treasury Book" which will be of interest to coming generations of her family. The following is an excerpt from her book: My husband, Jim, has always been interested in all of his family's activities and gives a push to help put things over, also gives good advice. He is far-sighted and plans well ahead. He is influential among his friends, and highly respected by his family.

DOROTHY ELIZABETH CRAIG CUNLIFFE OF THE ELEVENTH GENERATION

37. DOROTHY ELIZABETH CRAIG, first child of Mamie Bales Craig and James

Monroe Craig, Jr, was born Sept. 9, 1912 in Burwell, Garfield County, Nebr. Dorothy's parents enjoyed their children and gave them enriched musical and educational experiences of rural America. Dorothy was the first grandchild of Emma Jane Hall Craig and James Monroe Craig, Sr. Their continual cultural guidance which included literature, art, and music appreciation helped Mamie and James Craig give the background that enabled Dorothy to share both at home and school, America's esthetic way of life.

Dorothy well remembers the musical ability as well as the industrious work habits of her grandfather, James Bales. He would play the violin and jig, adding to the holiday fun. Her grandmother, Emma Bales, appreciated all people and all people appreciated her gentle ways.

Dorothy Elizabeth Craig

Dorothy moved with her parents from Burwell, Nebr. to Bushnell, Kimball County, Nebr. and then to Morrill, Scotts Bluff County, Nebr. in 1919. It was at Morrill that Dorothy, age 7, started to school in the second grade. She attended Pleasant Grove Rural Elementary School grades three through eight. Her 4 years of high school were at Liberty Rural High School north of Morrill, Nebr. She graduated with a Normal Training Teachers Certificate in the spring of 1931. She later attended college in Kearney, Nebr. and Greeley, Colo.

In the fall of 1931 Dorothy's teaching career began in an elementary school with all eight grades located in Sioux County ranch country. From 1932 through 1933, she taught at Alvis School; it too, was all eight grades. The next 5 years were spent teaching Junior High in Liberty District. Beginning on the fall of 1938, she taught the 5th and 6th grades at Lyman, Nebr. for 5 years. She was principal of the Lyman Elementary School the last year she taught there.

March 21, 1943 Dorothy was married to Robert Stanley Cunliffe at the Laurel Methodist Church of Oakland, Calif. She became a member of this church. Dorothy's husband, Robert Cunliffe, was born July 23, 1903 in Baraboo, Sauk County, Wisconsin. He attended school in Chicago and college in Missoula, Montana and Tacoma, Washington. He served in the armed forces in World War II; No. 39846311 Army Ordinance 1943-1944.

Due to an industrial accident in 1945, Robert Cunliffe had a back injury and was unable to work for 7 of the next 14 years. Three intervening, successful operations completely repaired the injury. He is now a highly skilled and highly paid crane operator at Moore Dock in Oakland, Calif.

Because of Robert's back injury, it was necessary for Dorothy to find employment. World War II had caused a shortage of teachers and she easily obtained a job in Jan. 1946 as an elementary teacher in the Oakland, Calif. Unified School District.

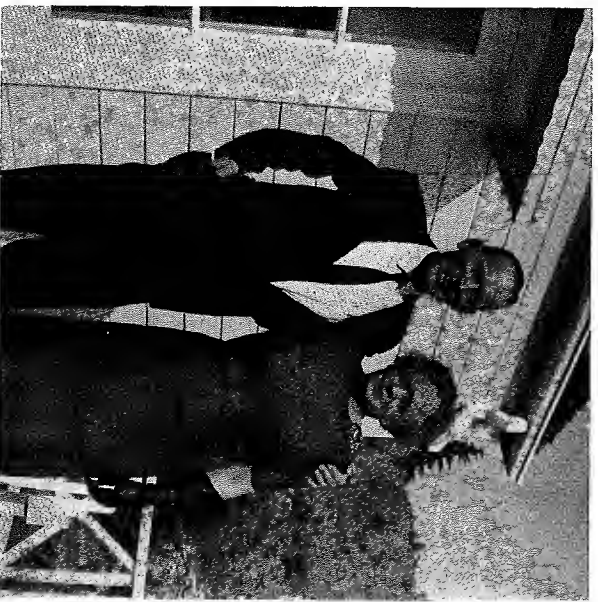

Dorothy started to college again in order to keep her Provisional Teaching Certificate in force. She worked nights and summers to obtain college credit. At age 42, she received her degree in Education from San Francisco Teachers College. She vowed to never take another class but in less than 3 years she was back at the University of Calif. taking night classes. She earned more than 60 units which entitled her to a Master's Equivalency. Later, 30 more units were added. While teaching in Oakland Dorothy served on Oakland's Curriculum Guide Committee and the plan they submitted was published in 1953. She also served on the Elementary Board of Directors of the Oakland Teachers Association. Dorothy loves working with children but California's salaries have their rewards too. As of 1974, she has taught a total of 27 years at 3 different schools; Stonehurst, Manzanita and Sequoia in the city of Oakland. She often acts as supervising teacher of student teachers from the colleges. She plans to retire in 1977 after a total of 42 teaching years.

Dorothy and Bob live in a beautiful home at 3461 Crane Way, Oakland, Calif. 94602. It is located high up on the hills of Oakland and just across the road from Joaquin Miller's Park. It overlooks the San Francisco Bay Area and the view of the city lights at night is one of indescribable beauty. After their retirement, Dorothy and Bob plan to remain in this home which they built together. Especially welcome visitors are their 2 granddaughters who so very much enjoy the many objects of art and artifacts which formerly graced the homes of Dorothy's and Bob's parents and grandparents.

ANNA BALES GOODELL OF THE TENTH GENERATION

12. ANNA HAZEL BALES, eighth child of Emma Bailey Bales and James Irvin Bales, was born Aug. 3, 1895 in Ord, Valley County, Nebr. She married Charles Arthur Goodell Dec. 19, 1915 in the home of her parents near Burwell, Garfield County, Nebr. Charles Goodell was born Oct. 14, 1880 in Colorado Springs, El Paso County, Colo. His father was Joseph Cooley Goodell born in Petersburg, Illinois and died in Los Angeles, Calif. His mother was Elizabeth Ann Nance Goodell (the daughter of Simeon and Amanda Wood Nance). Charles Arthur Goodell died Mar. 8, 1962 at his home in Scottsbluff, Nebr. and was buried March 13 in West Lawn Cemetery in Gering, Scotts Bluff County, Nebr.

After their marriage Charles and Anna farmed near Burwell, Nebr. until 1919. They then went to look over the country around Wewela, Tripp County, S. Dak. where her parents lived. The Goodells did not like the dry land with its bad drinking water and the not always friendly Indians. They finally settled in Morrill, Nebr. where they purchased irrigated farms and went into the real estate and insurance business. In January 1921 they moved to West Plains, Missouri. In 1922 they moved to Haig, Nebraska and dealt in real estate until Aug. 1924 when they moved to Denver, Colo. again being in the real estate business. They lived there until 1929 and then moved to Scottsbluff, Nebr. It was about this time that Charles became interested in the "black gold" of western Nebraska and Wyoming, always hoping to the day he died, to hit the big one. He spent much time and money in promoting and drilling oil wells. Anna had no confidence in his line of endeavor but she does receive a small monthly check as a result of his efforts.

During World War II times everyone worked. Anna worked at the U.S. Officer's Club at the War Prisoners Camp, earning $40.00 a week cooking for the officers. Having sons of her own in the service, she liked the boys and understood them. The German prisoners were K.P.'s and they were so happy to work in the kitchens. This Prisoner of War Camp was located southeast of Scottsbluff and had a high fence all around it with guards always on duty. When the camp was discontinued and all equipment sold, George Hise bought many things.

On March 17, 1931 Anna with her husband and three older children were baptized and became members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. After her last child grew up and left home Anna moved to Provo, Utah to be near her children who were going to college and becoming established there.

Anna's eyes have caused her a great deal of trouble in her life. She has had surgery four times, twice for glaucoma and twice for cataracts but she is fortunate to see well enough to go on working. She is very active in her church. She was president of the Relief Society for 11 years, their work consisting of being in the service of man. One year they filled 1,000 Bishop's orders for clothing and other articles. She was Counselor to the District President three years, 2nd Counselor in Primary and Sunday School teacher of young people for four years. She was visiting teacher in Relief Society many years and still holds this position. She is truly a dedicated, sincere, good person and a wonderful woman to know.

One of her most interesting vacation trips was to Arizona in 1972 when she visited her sons, Jim of Phoenix, and Howard of Tucson. She has had some memorable trips to Idaho to visit her son, Bob, and has viewed much of the grandeur of that outstanding state. In 1974 she went with a tour group to New York to see the Pageant. Resides: 244 E 400 N, Provo, Utah 84601.

DEMA GOODELL PARBERRY OF THE ELEVENTH GENERATION

41. DEMA IRENE GOODELL PARBERRY, first child of Anna Bales Goodell and Charles Arthur Goodell, was born Oct. 13, 1916 in Burwell, Garfield Co., Nebr. She had lived in Morrill, Nebr.; West Plains, Missouri; Haig, Nebr.; and Denver, Colo., before moving with her parents to Scottsbluff, Nebr. in 1929. They arrived there just in time to weather the depression years. She graduated from Scottsbluff High School in 1935 and worked at various jobs for several years.

She married Harold William Parberry Sept. 29, 1941 in Scottsbluff, Nebr. Their marriage was later solemnized in the Salt Lake Temple. Harold Parberry was born Sept. 29, 1912 in Morrill, Scotts Bluff County, Nebr. to Gustavus Adolphus Parberry and Marylan Elizabeth Kelly Parberry. Harold was killed in a highway accident Nov. 16, 1946 near Scottsbluff. Burial was in Fairview Cemetery in Scottsbluff, Nebr.

Dema believes that problems are meant to make us strong instead of bringing discouragement and this bit of philosophy began when she was very young. Dema had eye trouble and it was necessary for her to wear glasses when she was only three years old. She found them to be such a nuisance and being, even then, the resourceful person she is, took the solution into her own hands. Her glasses came up missing one day. The search was on! Everybody looked everywhere but no glasses! Pressure must have been brought to bear on that little girl for she eventually led the searchers to the hide-out. She had buried her specs in the dirt floor of the cellar.

With the thought in mind that he who has a choice, has a problem, Dema packed her few belongings in a small trailer and with her two children, ages 7 and 8, moved to Provo, Utah. In 1950 at age 34, she became a Freshman at Brigham Young University. Her brother, Bob, had accompanied her to Provo and he too, enrolled in the University. They had a two-room apartment near the school, usually ate one meal a day, and managed very well. Dema graduated in 1954 receiving a Bachelor of Science Degree with a major in Education and a minor in Speech and English. She taught for one year at Edgemont School and has been at Joaquin School in Provo the last 19 years. For many years she also taught summer school, teaching all grades through the 8th. Dema is known the town over as an especially excellent teacher. She is a member of the American Association of University Women. She belongs to Delta Kappa Gamma, an organization for teachers in which you are accepted by vote. She was a committee member of ACEI (Association Childhood Educational International) and did a special program for them. She has had a number of important assignments for the school district including the writing of an art study guide plan and more recently, a spelling and writing state guide. She spent two years working on a Merit Study where Provo was used as a pilot study. Her latest project has been working with the salary and contract committee. She is working with and has a special interest in Special Education children which includes the blind, deaf, the retarded, crippled, and emotionally disturbed children. She is working with these children by having some of them assigned to her classroom.

Dema was baptized and confirmed in the church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints in Scottsbluff, Nebr. Mar. 17, 1931. She has been or is active in Provo as a teacher and secretary for Sunday School, 1st counselor, visiting teacher, and teacher for theology in the Relief Society, and Stake Laurel Aaronic Priesthood director. A stake is comprised of 7 or 8 wards. In the Mutual Improvement Association she is or has been 1st counselor of women, secretary, president of a class, Stake Speech Director for 8 years in charge of speech contests, Stake Drama Director, which involved her in 3-act plays, parent-youth night and road shows, and an in-service teacher for Primary.

Dema has adopted considerable personal philosophy from which she derives inspiration and help. She often thinks of the William James quote: "We and God have business with each other; and in opening ourselves to His influence our deepest destiny is fulfilled." She believes: "I am not what I think I am, and I am not what you think I am. I am what I think you think I am."

Retirement is a few years away but Dema is looking forward to it and hopes to have time to finish a book, perhaps finish her Masters Degree, and take lessons in painting, work on the Parberry genealogy and be a full time grandmother. Resides: 244 E 400 N, Provo, Utah 84601.

Beth took voice lessons when she was a sophomore in high school. Her teacher who had studied abroad, called Beth's mother to say that Beth was Metropolitan Opera material. Had this possibility come to pass, Beth would not have been the first in the Goodell family as Dema's cousin, Agnes Davis, has sung in the Metropolitan Opera with Mary Garden. To her teacher's sadness - Beth got married.

She married Wendell Lee Roberts on June 6, 1960 in the Salt Lake Temple. Wendell was born Aug. 10, 1933 in Tremonton, Box Elder County, Utah to Thomas Roberts and Hazel Rebecca Anderson Roberts. JOSEPH CHARLES GOODELL OF THE ELEVENTH GENERATION

42. JOSEPH CHARLES GOODELL, second child of Anna Bales Goodell and Charles Arthur Goodell, was born Nov. 22, 1917 in Burwell, Garfield Co., Nebr. He moved with his parents to Scottsbluff, Nebr. in 1929 where he graduated from high school in 1935. Since the country was in a deep depression in the 30's he and his brother, Bob, spent several years getting jobs where they could. They went to the wheat harvest areas of Washington, worked at picking fruit on the west coast, and Joe worked for a rendering plant in Fort Morgan, Colo. Thinking they might be able to remain together when World War II broke out in 1941, Bob and Joe enlisted in the armed services on Jan. 21, 1942. As soon as basic training was over, Bob spent most of his time in Alaska and Joe spent from May 9, 1942 to Mar. 27, 1945 as a cook in the Hawaiian Islands. His service ended at the "convenience of the government" from Camp McCoy, Wisconsin on Sept. 22, 1945.

Joe married Florence Jean Phinney Coleman (always called Jean) Aug. 5, 1945 in Sparta, Monroe Co., Wisconsin. She is the daughter of Daniel Zina and Frances Guardene Lackey Phinney and was born Jan. 1, 1918 in Morrill, Scotts Bluff Co., Nebr. She graduated from high school in 1933.

After leaving the army, Joe spent one campaign as white sugar cutter at the Mitchell factory of the Great Western Sugar Company. The company wanted him to stay with them, but Joe and Jean decided to farm on the wheat land they owned south of Stegall, which Jean's father called the Murphy Sections. Joe had an instinctive feel for the land and has always felt that farming is one of the noblest occupations; supplying people with the best of food. Growing wheat has proven to be lucrative and he has supplied his large family with everything they needed and almost with everything they wanted. Joe's hobby is woodworking. He has made many beautiful lamps and other articles for their home and he enjoys making novelty items as gifts for friends and relatives. He has gradually become allergic to wood and must discontinue working with it.

Jean has said that her greatest claim to fame is being the mother of six wonderful children and the wife of Joe Goodell - not necessarily in that order. When her youngest started to school, she decided to take a few college classes. She became very interested and went for the Associate Degree given at Scottsbluff Junior College (now called Nebraska Western College). One more year netted one of the last Junior Elementary Certificates that Nebraska issued. During this time the Junior College National Scholastic Honor Society was formed and the students honored Jean by electing her as their first president. She graduated from the University of Wyoming in 1968 with a Bachelor of Arts Degree and received a Masters Degree in Education from Chadron State Teachers College in 1970. Since then she has earned an extra 15 hours of credit. She is presently teaching in the English Department of Torrington High School in Torrington, Wyoming.

In the summer of 1967 Jean toured Europe with a Brigham Young University group. In 1970 her trip was to the southern states and Nassau in the Bahama Islands with a Chadron State Teachers College group. Joe's cousin, Inez Kelley, was her roommate on this enjoyable trip. In 1973 Jean went to Jerusalem, Cairo, Ammon, and Istanbul.

(iii) JOSEPH PHINNEY GOODELL, second child of Joseph Charles Goode11 and Florence Jean Phinney Coleman Goode11, was born May 31, 1948 in Scottsbluff, Scotts Bluff County, Nebr.

Joe's love of sports was probably initiated when his mother took him to Scottsbluff to "23 Club" baseball when he was in the 7th and 8th grades. As a 9th grader he started playing basketball and was second for the year in scoring for his team. In Senior High, he was the only Junior at Scottbluff who played with any regularity and as a Senior, he was top scorer for the Nebraska "Big Ten" Conference. He won a spot on every Conference team for which Scottsbluff was eligible. He was also very good in football. He graduated from Scottsbluff High School in 1967. He was called on a mission for his church on Aug. 14, 1967 and served in the Great Lakes Mission Headquarters where he became leader of several missionaries. His Stake president offered him a job with Burrows Office Machines and after graduating from Brigham Young University in 1973, he joined that company. At this time Joe is President of the Elders Quorum. His ward has a basketball team and they took the area tournament after playing in Dayton, Ohio and in Indianapolis.

Joe was married June 24, 1972 to Kathleen Elizabeth Mortimer in Los Angeles Temple, Los Angeles Co., Calif. Kathy was born May 5, 1949 to Raymond and Lucille Mortimer. Her mother had this to say about her: Elizabeth was an enthusiastic child with a personality of either being way up or way down. She played the piano and the organ for church; she likes to sew; loved the car that was passed on to her from "Little Joe" and always kept meals on our table. She went to 8th and 9th grades in Laramie, Wyo. while her mother was getting her Bachelor's Degree. She went to Scottsbluff High School the next year but was not happy there and changed to Morrill where she graduated in 1970. She passed a Civil Service test and worked at Offutt Air Force Base in Bellevue, Nebr. She met Richard Lee Snelgrove there. He was born in Apr. 1949 the son of Barr and Lucille Wicker Snelgrove. (v) KATHERINE SUE GOODELL, fourth child of Joseph Charles Goodell and Florence Jean Phinney Coleman Goodell, was born Jan. 28, 1953 in Scottsbluff, Scotts Bluff Co., Nebr. Her mother has this to say about her: She was our smallest child at birth; 6 lbs. 7 oz. and has remained our petite one. She has always appeared to have an inner peace and confidence. She liked one boy from kindergarten through 9th grade which indicates some stability. She looks fragile but paradoxically she likes camping and outdoor activities. Kathy, along with her brothers, Joe and Tom, and her sisters, Elizabeth and Joe's wife, Kathy, all like to ski and have had some good times on the slopes.

She is active in all her church work, Seminary and M.I.A. and was in some plays. She graduated from Morrill High School in 1971, attending Ricks College in Idaho for 1 year, majoring in mathematics, and transferred to Brigham Young University where she is now in school.

ROBERT ARTHUR GOODELL OF THE ELEVENTH GENERATION

43. ROBERT ARTHUR GOODELL, third child of Anna Bales Goodell and Charles Arthur Goodell was born Oct. 19, 1919 at Wewela, Tripp Co., S. Dak. He moved with his parents to Scottsbluff, Nebr. in 1929. He and his family felt the severe effects of the financial depression of the 1930's even though they were all pitching in to help make ends meet. Bob was tempted many times to drop out of school and try to find full time work to help them but they prevailed upon him to stay in school. Future years proved them to be so right. He graduated from Scottsbluff High School in 1937 which was the first step up the ladder for him.

On Jan. 21, 1942 he joined the U.S. Army Air Force at Fort Logan, Colo. He went to Airplane Mechanic School at Chanute Field in Illinois and to Curtis-Wright Factory, Buffalo, New York. He was then sent to Eimendorf Field in Alaska and from there he was transferred to Umnak Island in the Aleutians. He was next stationed at Drew Field, Florida where he was an airplane mechanic working primarily on the P-38, P-40, and B-17 aircraft. While in the Aleutian Islands he was attached to the 397th Air Base Squadron where they maintained and repaired Fighter Aircraft P-38 and P-40. In Florida he was with the 326th Air Force Unit which trained pilots and crews for the B-17 Bombers. He was crew chief as well as mechanic. He received his discharge at McDill Field, Florida Oct 31, 1945.

A number of years intervened before he continued his education but in 1956 he graduated from Brigham Young University with a Bachelor of Science Degree in Mechanical Engineering. He received a Master of Science Degree in Mechanical Engineering from the University of Idaho at Moscow in 1960. Soon after his graduation from B.Y.U. he accepted employment with Phillips Petroleum Company and went to work at the National Reactor Testing Station located near Idaho Falls, Idaho. The job consisted of mechanical design of equipment needed for operation of nuclear test reactors. A round trip bus ride of 100 miles was part of the daily routine of getting from home to work and back again. He later was employed by Idaho Nuclear Corporation as a stress analyst. He presently works for Aerojet Nuclear Company in the same capacity and is still associated with the Reactor Testing Station.

In Sept. 1973 Bob represented Aerojet Nuclear Company at an International Conference on Reactor Technology in Berlin, Germany. He presented a paper at the conference which discussed some of the work being done at the National Reactor Testing Station. His wife, Mary, accompanied him to Berlin for the Conference and they enjoyed a vacation traveling in Germany, Switzerland, and England before returning home. In

He married Mary Lind Irons on July 8, 1958 in the Manti L.D.S. Temple in Manti, Sanpete County, Utah. June 22, 1931, she was born in Nephi, Juab Co., Utah, the daughter of Amos George and Beulah Pearl Hoyt Irons.

Mary majored in Elementary Education at Brigham Young University and graduated with a Bachelor of Science Degree in June 1954. She taught school 4 years before her marriage to Bob. Since then she has taught in a private kindergarten and has been a teacher in the Sunday School, Primary and Relief Society of her church. FRANKLIN IRVIN GOODELL OF THE ELEVENTH GENERATION

44. FRANKLIN IRVIN GOODELL, fourth child of Anna Bales Goodell and Charles Arthur Goodell, was born Apr. 7, 1926 in Westminster, (7 miles from Denver) Adams County, Colo. In 1929 during the Christmas holidays he moved with his parents to Scottsbluff, Nebr. Growing up during the depression days of the 1930's was not easy. Nearly everyone had to scratch a little harder for a living in those days and small boys did their share. A few nickels and dimes earned here and there helped. Like most boys, Frankie liked to fish. Following is a quote from the Goodell Genealogy written by Franklin: "One incident that is still imbedded in my mind happened when I was 6 or 7. I tagged along with my older brother, Joe, who was going fishing in Winter Creek. We were staying with our grandparents that summer at their farm home near Morrill. Joe had caught a fish and I was playing with it on a string in the water when the bank I was standing on gave way. I suddenly felt myself surrounded by water. My feet would strike the bottom and I would gently rise to the surface and descend again. This was a sensation I well remember to this day. I think I was going down for the third time when I felt my brother's hand grabbing me by the neck and yanking me back to dry land. I went home bawling all the way. Joe went back to his fishing - mad because I had scared all the fish away." A happier memory for Franklin is about the holidays and special occasions when all the grandparents, aunts and uncles, brothers and sisters and cousins (by the dozens, almost) gathered together to enjoy each others company and feast at the groaning board.

While Frankie was in high school, World War II began. He quit school in the 11th grade and joined the Navy in 1943 at the age of 17. Nothing seemed to matter but to win the war. He took basic training in Farragut, Idaho and then attended an aviation ordnance school in Norman, Oklahoma, after which he took aerial gunnery training in Purcell, Okla. He went to Florida for operational training, flying as a gunner in torpedo bombers, then to North Island at San Diego for a shakedown cruise on the carrier Salamaua. His squadron saw action in the South Pacific taking part in battles in the Philippines and in Okinawa. The carrier he was on was struck mid-ship by a Kami Kazi which went through all decks down to the bilge, during the battle of Lingayen Gulf and was almost sunk. He had another close call while in Florida according to a newspaper story: "Frank Goodell, 18, of Scottsbluff, a navy aviation gunner, lit in the front yard of a Miami, Florida home and on the front pages of Miami newspapers last week. He was flying with Ensign Gale V. Watt of Roseville, Illinois, his pilot, on May 15. Shortly after taking off, the plane dropped from an elevation of 150 feet into Opa-Locka Street in the center of Miami, swung around into Sesame Street and wound up in the front yard of Navy Specialist John R. Anderson. The nose of the plane was 15 feet from the house! Mr. and Mrs. Anderson were not at home to greet their visitors - which probably was just as well although the story ended happily. Frank and his pilot got out of the plane and walked away!"

While Frank was stationed at North Point in Hawaii, he took history and English courses which qualified him for a high school diploma. He was discharged from the Navy in 1946 and returned to Scottsbluff. He attended Scottsbluff Junior College for a short time and worked at various jobs until May 1948 when he decided to go back into the service and joined the Air Force as a Buck Sgt. After a few months in Camp Kilmer, New Jersey, and Mitchell Field in New York, he was sent to Okinawa, a place he had helped bomb two years before. He was later assigned to Rapid City Air Force Base in South Dakota. He and Cara Le Campbell were married June 30, 1950 in Rapid City, Pennington Co., S. Dak. and after the wedding they were honored at a reception at the N.C.O. Club. Cara Le was born Nov. 6, 1930 at Sar- gent, Custer Co., Nebr. to Orville LeRoy and Bertha Pearl Howland Campbell. Frank and Cara Le (called Carol by her family and friends) enjoyed living in the Black Hills country with its spectacular scenery. In 1954 he was transferred to Lejes Field in the Azores where they lived until Feb. 1957. While in the Azores he went to a religious retreat at Berchtesgaden, Germany which he found interesting. After the Azores he was stationed at Hurlburt Field in Florida.

Joseph, Franklin, and Robert Goodell

Frank has been inactive in his church for many years and in the meantime, Carol has joined the church. While in Scottsbluff on leave in 1957 Frank was ordained an Elder in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. In June 1958 he re-enlisted for Rapid City, S. Dak. and was assigned to work in Sac Command Post. His B-36 Wing was given temporary duty in England and Frank was sent there for a short tour of duty. Following this he was stationed in Amarillo, Texas. They purchased a home in Texas and stayed there until July 1961. He was then sent to Harmon Air Force Base in Newfoundland. In June 1964 they moved to Lincoln Air Force Base, Nebr.

In his travels Frank had been busily collecting material for a genealogy book which he wrote in 1963. It is about his father's side of the family and is titled Roberte Goodelle of Dennington, England and One Line of His Descendants. Some of the material in this character sketch is taken from that book.

Frank retired from the Air Force in Dec. 1965 after 22 years at the beck and call of Uncle Sam. He was hired as a dry cleaner at a large dry cleaning establishment in Lincoln and was sent to the National Dry Cleaners School at Silver Springs, Maryland for several weeks. The family was planning on living in Lincoln because they liked the college town and the people. But Frank did not care much for the dry cleaning business so they moved to Provo, Utah in Aug. 1966. They stayed with his sister, Dema, for a while until they found a house in Springville, a small town 7 miles east of Provo. Frank went to work for the Geneva Steel Mill but during the November cutback, he was laid off just before Thanksgiving. He had taken the Civil Service examination for the the post office and in December of that year he was hired. He has been working as a postman ever since. His first year in Utah, Frank took a few courses in history, health and library science at Brigham Young University. Presently, he and his son, Gary, are taking a couple of mechanical courses at Utah Tech. The family likes the small town of Springville, population 8,000, quiet and surrounded by mountains. Reside: 329 E 200 S, Springville, Utah 84663. They have taken root there and expect to stay "unless a revolution occurs." They are active in the L.D.S. Ward where Frank is assistant ward clerk. Car Le has been a teacher in Primary.

In 1869 the family moved to Pottawattamie County, Iowa where Allen grew to adulthood. The next mention we have of him is in the Federal Census of 1880 from James Township, Pottawattamie County, Iowa, where he is listed as 20 years of age and a boarder at the home of William Newton. It was during the year 1880 that he married LAURA ESTELLA NEWTON, daughter of WILLIAM and HANNAH NEWTON. Laura was born August 20, 1862 in Harlan, Shelley County, Iowa. She was a sister of William Oscar Newton who married Ellen Harriet Bailey, sister of Allen Eugene. For three years after their marriage they farmed in James Township. In 1883 the urge to go West spirited them and they accompanied Allen's father and mother and sisters to Hand County, Dakota Territory, where they homesteaded near Burdette, South Dakota, a small community located some 25 miles Southwest of Redfield, South Dakota. Homestead Certificate Number 14515 records that Allen E. Bailey of Hand County, Dakota Territory, homesteaded the Southwest Quarter of Section 25, Wheaton Township, Hand County. His homestead tract contained 160 acres and is recorded in Volume 15, page 414 and given under oath on the 12th day of May, 1888 at the Register of Land Office in Huron, South Dakota. It was filed for record in Hand County on July 30, 1898 and recorded on page 292 of Deed Book G. Wheaton Township is located directly north of Burdette Township where Allen's father, Edward Gardene, and his sister, Ellen Newton, homesteaded. This is fifteen miles or so Northwest of Wessington, South Dakota.

Raising a family on a homestead was not an easy life and required the utmost effort on the part of every member of the family just to keep alive. The Bailey homestead in Hand County was almost fifty miles from Huron and nearly twenty miles to the nearest railroad town. With cars and trucks as they are today, that is not much of a trip, but in 1890 it took at least two days to haul a load of grain to town or to buy a load of lumber or whatever. All this inconvenience prompted Allen and Laura Bailey to sell their homestead in Hand County and move to Bonilla Township, Beadle County, South Dakota where they settled in Section 31 and continued to live until 1906. Mrs. Mildred McEwen Jones in her book, "Beadle County Settlers," mentions the fact that the Allen Bailey's lived on a farm located in the Northwest Corner of the Southeast Quarter of Section 31, Bonilla Township. They were still some five miles from a town but they were closer to their family which was a meaningful thing to them. Not too many years after they left this farm, their daughter Lula and her husband Fred Boyd, moved on the farm and lived there for a number of years. Fred and Lula's son, Leonard and his wife Carmen Horn Boyd, lived on the farm for a great many years and raised their family there. In 1974 the farm is still in the possession of the family.

About 1906 or 1907 the Allen Bailey's moved to a farm located a couple of miles to the Southwest of the farm in Section 31 of Bonilla Township to Section 1 of Whiteside Township. This is the same section where Glenn Boyd, their grandson, still lives. They lived on this farm known as the Al Bailey farm for only two or three years when they moved to Wessington, South Dakota, where they retired and he died on Jan. 10, 1921. Laura Newton Bailey continued to live in Wessington until about 1945 when she moved to Huron, South Dakota and resided for a short time with her son and daughter-in-law, Edward and Orah Brown Bailey. She spent the last year or so of her life in a convalescent home in Groton, South Dakota where she died on Dec. 30, 1949. Both Allen and Laura Newton Bailey are buried in the family burial plot in Wessington, South Dakota.

ELLEN HARRIET BAILEY NEWTON OF THE NINTH GENERATION

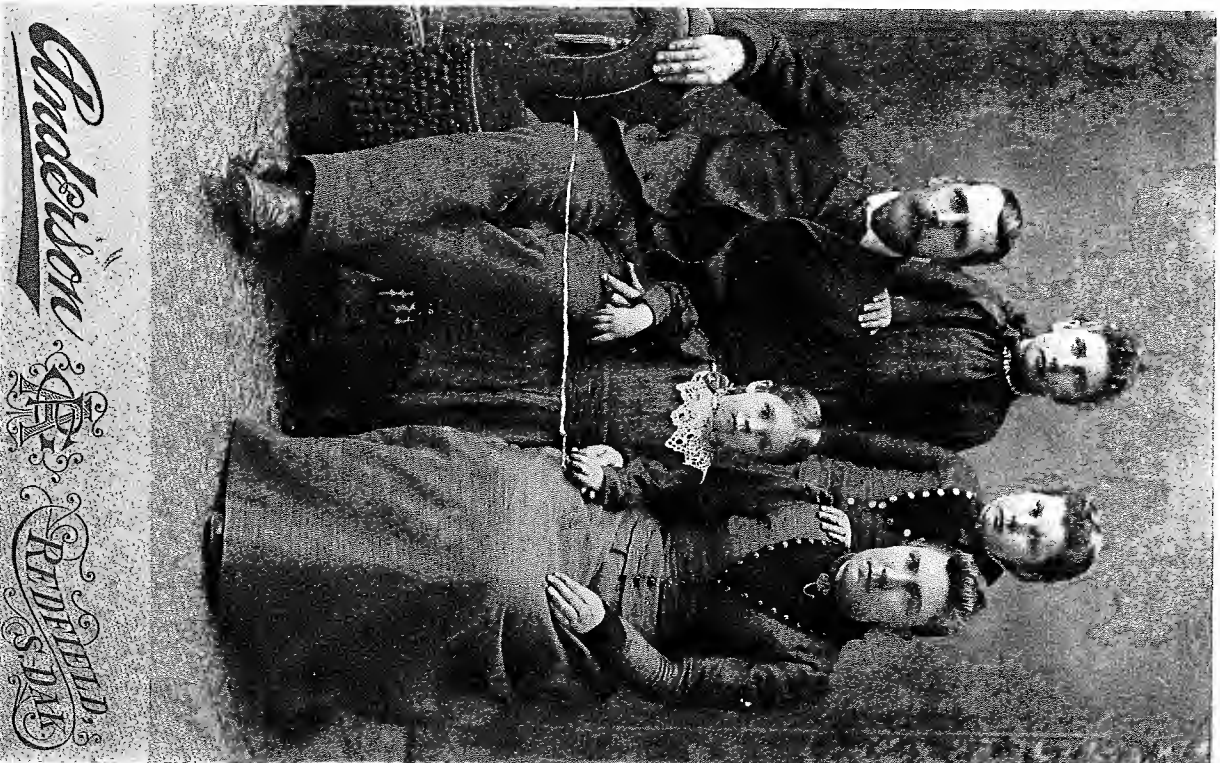

4. ELLEN HARRIET BAILEY NEWTON, third child of EDWARD GUARDINE BAILEY and SARAH MARGARET DAVIS BAILEY, was born in Redwing, Goodhue County, Minnesota on Oct. 13, 1861. The records we have concerning her father and the date he joined the Union Army, Oct. 10, 1861, do not tell us whether he got to see his new daughter before he left for his long period of army service or not. In almost every letter he wrote home and in every letter he received from home, something was always mentioned about the children, including Ellen.

The first mention we find of her in any records is in the Minnesota Census of 1865 for Goodhue County. She is recorded as Elin Bailey. When she was only eight years old her parents moved to Pottawattamie Co., Iowa where she spent the rest of her childhood days. She married one of the neighborhood boys, WILLIAM OSCAR NEWTON on Jan. 7, 1878 in Oakland, Pottawattamie Co., Iowa. He was born in Oskaloosa, Mahaska Co., Iowa on Aug. 15, 1855, the son of William and Hannah Newton. He was a brother to Laura Estelle Newton who married Ellen's brother, Allen Eugene Bailey.

They resided for the first few years of their married life in Pottawattamie Co., near Oakland and moved along with a great many of the family to the Dakotas in 1883. They settled on a homestead in Hand Co., Dakota Territory (now South Dakota) the exact location being the Northwest Quarter of Section 6 of Burdette Township in Hand County.

William & Ellen Harriet Bailey Newton and three daughters: Edna Gertrude, Callie, & Alma Maude.

The tract of land contained 135.13 acres on which they finally proved up and secured their patent on February 8, 1889. It is recorded as Certificate No. 15442 in Book C, page 248 of the Hand County Deed Records. It is also recorded in Volume 19, page 279 of the General Land Records of the United States at Huron, South Dakota. It is of interest that South Dakota became a state shortly after the above date and Grover Cleveland was President of the United States when the transactions were made. For those of you who might be interested in locating the land, it is 12 miles directly south of Rockham, S. Dak. and 1 mile west, and 1 mile north of the small country town of Burdette, S. Dak. (Most maps no longer record Burdette as existing.) In 1973 there were no buildings located on the above land and appearances are that they had been gone for many years.

About 1890 the Newtons moved from their farm on Section 6 to a homestead located on the Northeast Quarter of Section 28 also in Burdette Township, Hand Co., S. Dak. The buildings on their farm were in the Northeast corner of Section 28, some 16 miles north and 3 miles west of present day Wessington, S. Dak. In 1893 the Newtons sold their farm to Charles and Maggie Lawson. Maggie Lawson was the youngest sister of Ellen Bailey Newton. The Lawsons built a new set of buildings on this farm located in the Northwest corner of the Northeast Quarter of the section 28.

Homesteading for the Newtons presented hardships for these hardy souls even to survive in those days. These hardships seem almost incomprehensible to we descendants. This, of course, was true for all the Bailey family whether they homesteaded in the Dakotas or Nebraska. Breaking of the hard, sodded prairie was a most difficult task and surviving through drought, blizzards, and stormy times took a lot of determination. For the Newtons getting the crops to market and securing supplies necessitated a two day trip at the very minimum. Distances were long and horse drawn vehicles moved slowly. There were practically no roads and only trails across the prairie.

In 1973 some of us visited the Sunbeam Cemetery which is located 2 miles west and 2 miles south of Burdette. It is a small, pretty, country cemetery and is the final resting place of three of the Newton children. These children all died from diphtheria over a short period of time. It is of interest that their graves are marked with a three-sided stone that has liliacs growing almost completely around it. Visiting the cemetery is reminding again of the sadness and sorrow that came to the many homesteaders in their endeavors to build a home and make a living for their families. To them, we owe so much!

In 1894 the family moved to Huron, S. Dak. to be nearer a trade center. They lived in Huron for the rest of their lives making their livelihood by farming and dairying. Ellen Bailey Newton died Apr. 2, 1935 and William Oscar Newton died May 1, 1935. Both are buried in the Ideal Cemetery, Huron, S. Dak. A quote from Ellen's obituary: "In her life she typified all that was sweet and noble and enduring in motherhood." They were both wonderful people.

Glenn is presently a Captain in the U. S. Air Force and works in the Pentagon in Washington, D.C. His selection as a member of the Pentagon Staff is the culmination of an outstanding career with the Quartermaster Corps of the Air Force. Immediately after Glenn and Gay were married he served three years at the Scott's Air Force Base in Missouri where Glenn received a Citation as the Most Efficient Officer of his Corps. He was then assigned to the Phantom Air Force Base in Germany. While at the Phantom Air Force Base they lived in a small nearby town by the name of Hirschfeld. They much enjoyed their stay there as Hirschfeld is a small mountain village that has only one shop for each particular need, such as one bakery, one dress shop, and one shoe shop. Of interest is that the shoemaker had only one last for lady's shoes and one for men's shoes. As a consequence, the fit was not always the best.

While in Europe they traveled extensively visiting most of the countries and seeing most of the cultural aspects. This included art, sculptural, and historical points of interest. Visiting all of the castles and seeing the works of art and sculpturing of such famous people as Michelangelo was indeed, rewarding to them. Gay was elected president of the International Women's Club. At that time she was the youngest lady to hold this office. Gay has always been interested in sketching and painting and has much ability in it. She did some study in Paris and painted a beautiful copy of "The Old Man" by Degas, which hangs in her home now. She has shown her paintings at art shows and sells some occasionally. She has the ability and interest and hopes to continue with this hobby.

After three years in Germany, Glenn was assigned to Bien They, Vietnam. He was in the thick of the fighting while in Vietnam. While there he helped develop a Catholic Orphanage not far from his base. He spent his weekends there and convinced other men they should do likewise. Gay moved to Huron, S. Dak. while Glenn was in Vietnam and helped him at the Orphanage by sending clothing, bedding, bandages, etc. through the St. John's Hospital and Knights of Columbus in Huron and the area. For his efforts, Glenn earned two medals as an Outstanding Officer in the European area, and two in Vietnam for his efforts and work at the Orphanage. They reside in Alexandria, Virginia.

(2) Child: TRAVIS DANE WIMER born Apr. 19, 1973 in Alexandria, Virginia.

GALLIE ALTHARIA NEWTON MILLER OF THE TENTH GENERATION

18. CALLIE ALTHARIA NEWTON MILLER, third child of Ellen Harriet Bailey Newton and William Oscar Newton of the ninth generation, was born near Burdette, Dakota Territory, on June 5, 1883. She lived the first ten years of her life in Hand County, S. Dak. and moved with her parents to

Callie Altharia Newton Miller

Charles (Charley) Richard Miller

Huron, S. Dak. in 1893. She graduated from Huron High School and from Huron College Normal School in 1904. She taught in rural schools for several years. Her first year of teaching was in the Borah School where she stayed at the home of her Aunt Lizzie Bailey Borah. Cousins Lloyd, Edith and Mildred Borah all went to school to her. She was a very good teacher and always got along so well with the older boys who sometimes created difficult problems in those days.

On June 9, 1908 she married CHARLES RICHARD MILLER. He was born in Chicago, Illinois, the son of William and Amelia Miller. He rode a freight train to Dakota when a young man and worked on farms around Huron. He worked his way through Huron College graduating in 1906 and the Western Theological Seminary, Pittsburg, Pa. where he graduated in 1909. While in Huron College he preached in rural churches around Huron. Hazel Lyon Zieske (Kerwin Meyer's mother-in-law) recalls his preaching at their country church south of Huron, coming with horse and buggy on Friday evening and staying over Sunday at the Lyon home. Her folks were glad to help him in that way and gave him horse feed and other things when he returned to Huron. Mildred Borah Meyer remembers one summer he preached at Onida, S. Dak., about 100 miles northwest of Huron; enroute he stayed overnight at the home of her parents, the James J. Borah's near Bonilla. He was a very good singer and sang in quartettes in college days. He was also a beautiful penman. He spent most of his life as a Presbyterian Minister serving churches in Wentworth, Woonsocket, Sioux Falls and Salem, S. Dak. and Emporia, Kansas. During his lifetime, he published a number of books. In 1924 he became Field Secretary for Huron College and served in that capacity until 1934 when

VICTOR NEWTON MILLER OF THE ELEVENTH GENERATION

58. VICTOR NEWTON MILLER was born Mar. 8, 1913 at Woonsocket, S. Dak. A letter written by Victor to Mrs. John C. Meyer pretty well tells his life story. It is as follows:

November 19, 1972

Dear Millie;

How nice to hear from you. Your letter arrived just as we were leaving for San Diego to attend our sons wedding. Since our return I have been out of town most of the time. Please forgive the delay in answering your nice letter.

Yes - I do remember you and most of the family. It was a big event for me when I was little to be able to go "up to the big farm", and the huge barns that we played in and around and the trees and the huge kitchen (at least it seemed to me) were etched pretty well in my memory. Then too - you were my Mothers favorite cousin and she talked about you many times.

The summer with Carol on the road camp was my first big adventure and I loved every minute of it. It is doubtful just how effective my efforts were as a working "man" but I did enjoy trying and I still thrill when I hear the roar of a big cat on a frosty morning. Am sorry to hear that Carol and Carmon have heart trouble. Tell them hello for me.

There is hardly anyone in Huron that I know any more. The Medigers all moved to Minnesota and I visited them a couple of times. We kept in close touch with Aunt Lura but she is gone now too. Phoebe and Dorothy, I can only remember as little girls but we do keep in Xmas card touch and I'd love to see them again. Give Phoebe our best when you see her.

Did Camden mention that he and I had a good chat the time he attended a convention in Portland? Time was short but I did enjoy him and wish that. I could have had the opportunity to know him better. He is a fine, clean cut boy and I'm sure he is doing well in Twin Falls.

To grow, trim and prune our family tree is quite an undertaking. The idea is highly commendable and we can thank our lucky stars for such a heritage. Sometimes, along the back roads of Europe I envied them their rich and varied history. It gave their children something to lean on when their values were questioned. For those of us whose parents and grandparents were pioneers, it gives us something to lean on too and we can look back with pride on their qualities and courage. At any rate, I think the idea is wonderful and whatever the book costs when it is finally born, please put me on your list.

Now you are ready (and I hope I am) for a few vital statistics on my history and family. Some of the years melt together but I'll try to do my best without boring anyone.

I was born on March 8, 1913 in Woonsocket, South Dakota along with a twin brother, Vincent, who died about 1 mo. later. I grew up in South Dakota as you know and we left for Emporia, Kansas in 1929 where I graduated from High School. I immediately came north to White Owl, South Dakota where I ran a trap line and the next year drove a herd of 30 horses across Montana to Missoula where I studied Forestry at the Univ. of Montana there.

The depression was on and I starved out of school and went to work for the Forest Service packing mules. I ran pack trains throughout western Montana and Northern Idaho in the summer months and mined and worked in many other jobs in Washington, Calif. and Arizona until 1938. In June of that year

Victor Newton and Elsie A. Moller Miller

I married Elsie A. Moller, a Reg. nurse in Seattle. She was born July 15, 1913 in southern Sweden and came to this country when she was 11 years old. Her parents were Mr. and Mrs. Anton Moller of Hoquiam, Wash. Her parents had an interesting history (mostly seafaring people) and were wonderful folks. We have visited her homeland a couple of times and were there last year for a long visit.

We first lived in Montana at Hamilton and then moved to Hoquiam, Wash. From Hoquiam we moved to Hood River, Oregon in 1948 and from there to Portland in 1950. My years in Portland were spent in Life Insurance work and I was fairly successful at it but wanted a change. In the spring of '69 we moved to Ventura, Calif. where we love the climate and my work as mgr. and Pub. rel. work for three of the Anthony Schools, a private school that teaches Real Estate, Contracting, Ins. etc. I spent several months writing a book for them before going into this work. I am also active in Real Estate and find it most enjoyable. I still try to write on various subjects and hope to do more.

Lucian lives at Palm Desert, Calif. where he has been for about 15 years. He has been in the general insurance business for many years and is an expert in his field. We see each other quite often and he attended Chuck's wedding a week ago. His wife, Marian, is a very nice person. Lew has a son by a previous marriage who graduated from Woodbury College, is married and has a year old baby son. A very nice boy. Lew was born on Dec. 31, 1909. You can write him at Palm Desert but this may be sufficient information. Lew met me when I took Dad back to Huron for burial but the weather was bad and we were short of time so he had little opportunity to meet anyone while he was there.

In 1934 I was traveling with a pack train high into mountain country along the Montana divide. I spent the evening and night with an old fellow named Bill (don't remember the last name). He was a marvelous fellow and we hit it off fine. As the evening wore on, he began to tell me about the days when he was a young man on a farm down near Council Bluffs, Iowa. I let him talk. It seems like the farm was run by a man named Bailey who had some very beautiful and charming daughters. He especially liked one called Lizzie. One morning he was caught kissing Lizzie under the cow while she was milking, by another young man named Bill Newton who worked there. It was a case of blackmail until he caught Bill with Ellen on his lap one summer night while they were sitting on a porch swing. Then I told him that I happened to be mighty close to those folks. It was a cute story and I would have given anything to have been able to tease Aunt Lizzie about the milk cow business. Bless her heart - I could just imagine the twinkle in her eyes.

Thank you so much for writing. Hope I haven't left out anything you wanted to know. If so - please write and I'll do my best to correct it. Please excuse the typing errors. This electric typewriter is new to me.

Yes - we are healthy and happy and have had a good life. We can't complain a bit. Our friends and our memories are our wealth. Love to you and yours,

Love, Vic

Victor wrote the following paragraph when he sent the information about his children:

Yes - we finally made what I hope will be our final move. In July we sold our home and moved into a beautiful Mobile Park that is nicely garnished with wide curving streets, roomy lots, wonderful landscaping, very nice people and the usual enjoyable goodies such as swimming pool, shuffleboard courts, putting green, sauna and jacuzzi baths, etc.etc. etc. It is a new way of life but a most enjoyable one. We have enough gardening to enjoy and I have built a nice waterfall adjacent to the patio. I swim almost every day either before or after work. Am still in the insurance business but have been leaning rather heavily into real estate during the past two years. We are both in good health and at our age, one is thankful for all such blessings. Those years do roll around (sometimes around us)."

Victor and Elsie reside at 223 Pollack lane, Ventura, California 93003.

ELIZABETH EDNA BAILEY BORAH OF THE NINTH GENERATION

5. ELIZABETH EDNA BAILEY, (always called Lizzie) the fourth child of EDWARD GUARDENE and SARAH MARGARET DAVIS BAILEY, was born April 20, 1868 near Hader, Goodhue County, Minnesota. She was a baby when her parents moved to Pottawattamie County, Iowa in 1869. She grew up as a young girl in Iowa where she lived until she was fifteen. Then she moved again with her parents to Hand County, Dakota Territory (now S. Dak.) in 1883. While still in her teens and previous to her marriage she taught school for a one year period in Hand County. In Iowa she had become acquainted with JAMES JERVIS BORAH, her future husband. He was born June 19, 1858 near Mt. Ida, Grant County, Wisconsin, the son of Jacob Jarvis Borah and Sarah Jane McKinney. James Jervis was the fifth son in a family of six boys and four girls. When he was almost seven years of age his parents and brothers and his oldest sister headed west on the Oregon Trail presumably for California. While on the trail in Wyoming they deviated from the main road and went to Virginia City and Jefferson City, Montana which was full fledged mining camps at that time. They were there during the winter 1865-66 while his father built houses. In the Spring of 1866 they headed west again towards California where they settled near the small town of Langford. They farmed there until 1872. Farming was not the best in California at that time so in 1872 the family again headed east to Iowa where they settled down near the small town of Hancock, Iowa.

While James Jervis or "Jim" as he was called, was in his teens he carved from a five foot branch of a walnut tree a six foot chain with swivels, ball joints, etc., which was later entered in the St. Louis Worlds Fair in 1904. Jim and Lizzie Borah attended the fair and witnessed his chain being awarded first place for art work of this type. The carving itself was masterfully done and showed extremely careful work and expert knowhow. The chain now in four pieces is still in the possession of the family. Jim carved this chain with a jack knife he had gotten while still a boy in Langford, Calif. The knife cost fifty cents which was a lot of money at that time, and Jim had worked long and did much persuading of his father before the jack knife was finally purchased.

Jim and Lizzie
Bailey Borah

Jim Borah was a very enterprising young man. In his early twenties he bought land right west of Hancock, Iowa for $12.00 an acre. He developed this land and later sold it to a man he met on a train for $37.00 per acre. His profit assisted him considerably in developing his Dakota homestead a few short years later. While at Hancock he purchased a corn sheller which he operated by horse power and did custom work about the country. In one year he fulfilled two 100,000 bushel contracts plus several smaller contracts during the corn shelling season.

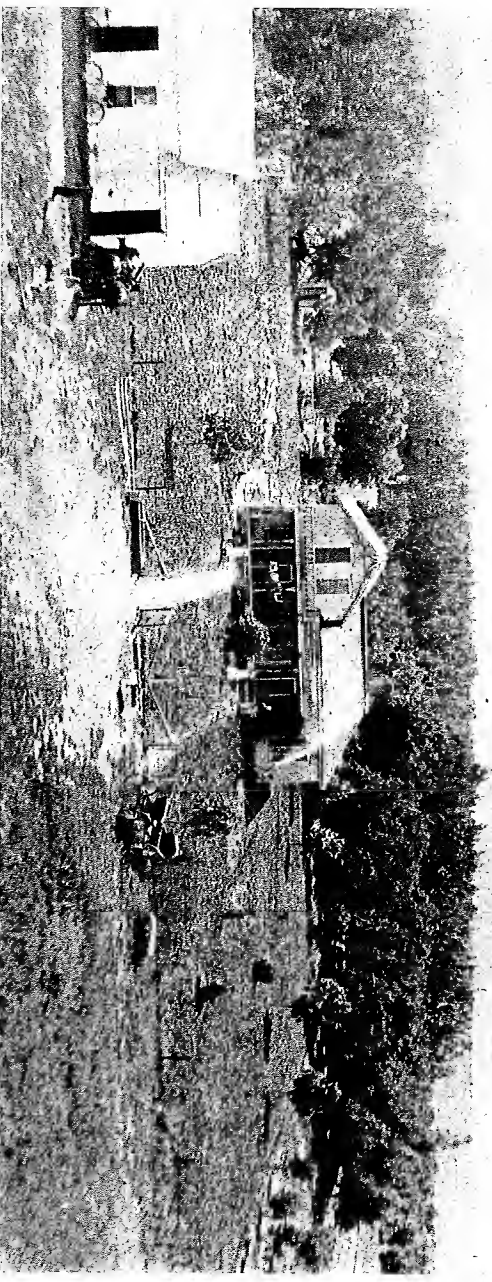

Like the Baileys, Jim Borah headed towards Dakota Territory in 1883. He drove there by horse and wagon and took with him, among other things, a walnut table which is still in the possession of his daughter, Mildred Borah Meyer. Immediately upon arriving in the Dakota Territory he took possession of the Northeast Quarter of Section 4 of Allen Township, Beadle County, now South Dakota, which land he homesteaded. The location is some 20 miles from the area where the Baileys settled in Hand County. On February 17, 1886 Jim and Lizzie, as they were known by the family, were married at Redfield, Dakota Territory, now S. Dak. They moved immediately to the Borah homestead located $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles south and $1\frac{1}{4}$ mile west of Bonilla, S. Dak. For the next 25 years they lived on the Borah homestead. They developed this farm into one of the finer farms in that part of South Dakota. The Borah homestead was known throughout the area as Woodland Farm. About 1890 by utilizing the artesian water they had available an acre of their section of land situated right near their house was developed into an intensive garden site where vegetables and small fruits such as currants, gooseberries, and strawberries were raised. They had one of the nicest groves of trees in that part of the country with crab apple, ash, poplar, cottonwood, box elder and cedar trees. When Jim was about 80 years of age he made for his daughter, three daughters-in-law, and two grand daughters each a treasure chest made from the red cedars planted many years before on the farm. Some of these chests were exhibited at the State Fair and came home as ribbon winners. These are still prized possessions of the family.

Mentioned in some of the articles about the Nebraska family was the blizzard of January 12, 1888. This blizzard must have hit the Dakotas with about the same amount of ferocity. Jim Borah had gone to Bonilla that morning with horses and a sleigh. He said he had not been there long when he began to suspect because of the stillness of the air and the looks of the sky that there might be a storm brewing. He headed for the farm as rapidly as he could travel with about a foot of snow on the ground. When about a mile away from his home he could see that the storm was going to get to his house first. So he let the horses have their way and when they stopped they were standing right in front of the barn door. Granddad said that the fury was such that you had to have your hand close to your face to be able to see it. The wind blew with such force and it got so cold that many people froze to death. Livestock which always face into a storm froze standing up. Many of the people who were alive when that storm hit remember the furiousness of it. Some of the tales told were tall ones indeed but truth is always stranger than fiction. Evidently, the storm must have continued unabated across the United States since I have read where some areas of New York State were treated about the same way as the Dakotas and Nebraska had been.

All of the children of Jim and Lizzie were born on the Borah homestead. All attended elementary school at the Borah School named for Jim and located in the southeast corner of the section where the Borahs lived.

During Jim Borah's lifetime he owned either three or four threshing outfits. We descendants are not sure how many. The outfit above, a Huber steam engine and a Huber threshing machine was probably steam engine number 2 as the first engine he owned had an upright steam boiler. The identity of the crew: On the extreme left is Al Bailey on the grain wagon; Jim Borah is on the engine; Edward Guardene Bailey is on the threshing machine. We are not sure who the man next to the threshing engine is but some think it might be Jim Bales. If so, this Jim Bales was a cousin of the Jim Bales in Nebraska, their fathers being brothers. Next in line is Fred Boyd, to Fred's left is John Russell (the big man). John was a hired man for Jim Borah for several years. Next to him is Louie Schmetzer, a neighbor. We are unable to identify the man in the headerbox. A guess on the date of this picture would be 1896-98. The picture was probably taken in the vicinity of the Borah farm in Beadle County, South Dakota.

The family from the left: The little fellow is Carrol, Mildred, Edith, Lizzie Bailey, Jim and Lloyd. We do not know who the men are standing on the porch or by the shop and garage. The single story part of the house was built in 1886 and the two story part about 1899. The house looks about the same today but the lattice work is gone and the trees are closer. The shop on the left was the claim shanty built by Hank Borah, brother of Jim's on the quarter across the road and then later moved to this site. This picture taken about 1900 was on the front page of the "Dakota Farmer" some years later. The "Dakota Farmer" is a farm magazine well known in the Dakotas. Jim Borah was proud of nature's pressure system provided by the artesian well on his farm.

Much activity went on on the Borah Homestead. Jim along with Irving Cooper, a first cousin of Mrs. Borah who lived directly across the section north of Jim one mile, purchased the first threshing outfit in that part of South Dakota. The outfit was purchased in 1884 at a cost of $1,300 from Davis and Longstaf in Huron. They threshed in their area of South Dakota until 1907 or so. They carried their own crew and were boarded by the farmers as they made their circuit. Presently in possession of Carmon Borah is a patent issued to Jim for an automatic grain weigher for use on a threshing machine. On a following page is a copy of a letter written to James J. Borah from the J. I. Case Threshing Machine Company representative. The $445.00 received for this patent was small remuneration for the success of this patent which later was used extensively on threshing machines throughout the United States and Canada. In addition to the patent for the automatic grain weigher he is credited with one of the first patents on a self-feeder for a threshing machine.

Jim Borah was one of the first farmers in the country to have an automobile. Among others he had a 1903, 1908, and 1912 Rambler, plus several Model T Fords and a 1923 Buick. This picture is of Jim as driver (notice the right hand steering) with Lizzie on his left. In the back seat are John and Millie Borah Meyer with their son, Camden. Sitting on the ground is Herbert Borah. We believe the dog to be "Buster" Buster was born about the same time as Camden and was the Meyer family dog for at least 12 years. This automobile is a 1912 Rambler and the picture was taken about 1914.

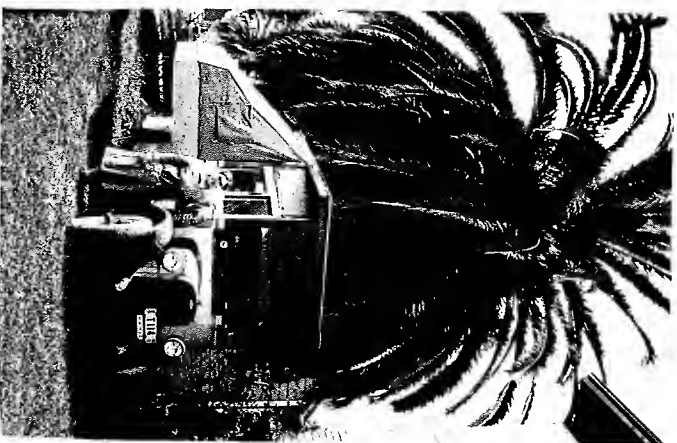

During the first few years the Borahs were on their farm, water was a real problem. Most of it had to be transported from the Fox Lake area 2 miles west and 1 mile south of the farm and about 1 mile west of the Louis Sch-netzer farm. Jim bought an auger also in conjunction with Irving Cooper and dug some 10 holes on the Borah farm and some 16 on the Cooper farm, all turning out to be dry. So to solve their problem these men bought an artesian well digging outfit. Outside of their own wells they dug many wells throughout the country. One was dug on Jay's farm south of Huron, one for the town of Miller in 1894, several around St. Lawrence and the Wessington Hills area. A number were dug around Bonilla. One was on the Corley place and one on the Curt Young farm which was a $4\frac{1}{2}$ inch well which flowed 1440 gallons per minute and had a closed pressure of 185 pounds per square inch. It made the so called Bonilla Lake in the early years. The 3 inch well dug in 1886 on the Borah farm was still flowing in 1971 although at a considerably slower pace. A new well was dug on the farm that year. The original well had been recased to 2 inch in 1904 and to 1 inch in 1920. This well was 986 feet deep.

Both Jim and Lizzie were very civic minded people. Lizzie was active in Ladies Circles and in church work while Jim was town clerk, assessor, and a school board member plus a Beadle County Commissioner during the years before the family moved to Huron in 1911. Soon after Jim and Lizzie moved to Huron he became President of the Midwest Motor Company which was a farm equipment business. They dealt in the Huber Line of tractors, threshing machines, and other lines of farm machinery. They stayed active in business affairs until the mid twenties when Jim retired.

James J. Borah along with Edward Guardene Bailey is written up in the Memorial and Biographical Record of Central South Dakota, published by George A. Ogle and Company, Chicago 1889, Article, Page 294.

In 1927 Jim and Lizzie Borah retraced the route he had taken as a boy when his parents went to California via the Oregon Trail, Virginia City, Montana and California in the Borah Camposcope. Of interest is that Jim Borah purchased a 1926 Chevrolet Truck chassis and built this camposcope which has to be one of the first mobile homes. In its day it was remarkable indeed.

This picture of the Camposcope was taken Apr. 19, 1927 in San Diego when the Borahs were visiting some of the family. Lizzie Bailey Borah stands beside the Camposcope.

Jim and Lizzie were devoted members of the Methodist Church which had a definite place in their lives. They attended church regularly and gave cheerfully and loyally of their time and very substantial support. They were active in other community activities as well. Both were cheerful people, energetic and desirous of being helpful to their many friends and members of the family. Probably no one had more friends who looked to them for service and counsel than they did.

Lizzie Edna Bailey Borah died Aug. 14, 1935 after a long and lingering illness. The obituary in the Huron paper said: "She was a fine cheerful temperament; energetic and helpfully active in many good things, and always ready and eager to render every possible service to her family and to her friends. Her friends were many. And she found genuine delight in extending to them the fine hospitality of her home. Such lives are always missed for they leave a niche that can never be filled." For those of us in the family old enough to remember our Grandma Borah, she was one of the most wonderful people! We can all give thanks for the many pleasant memories that she gave to us.

James Jervis Borah died Nov. 16, 1942. Both are buried in the family plot in the Altoona Cemetery at Hitchcock, South Dakota. Buried along side of them are their children: Edith, Sarah Hazel, and Delbert.

LLOYD VERNON BORAH OF THE TENTH GENERATION

21. LLOYD VERNON BORAH, first child and first son of James Jervis and Lizzie Edna Bailey Borah, was born Oct. 31, 1886 on the Borah farm Southwest of Bonilla, Beadle Co., S. Dak. He spent his boyhood and early adulthood on the homestead and attended all of his school years at the Borah School which was located one-half mile east and a mile south of the Borah Homestead. He farmed with his father for a while and then purchased for himself a farm which is located a half mile south and two and one-half miles east of Bonilla on the south side of the road. The township location is the Southeast Quarter of Section 19 of Altoona Township, Beadle Co, S. Dak., 113 North, Range 63 West. Today the farm buildings are located on the north side of the road and are lived in by Elmo and Dorothea, son and daughter-in-law of Lloyd.

On July 30, 1911 Lloyd married LOUISA KATHRYN ECKHARDT (Louise, as we all knew her.) She was born July 8, 1893 near New Berlin, Sangamon Co., Illinois, the daughter of Martin and Julia Ann Mantle Eckhardt. For the first 4 years of their married life they lived on the land Lloyd had recently purchased. In 1915 they moved back to near New Berlin, Illinois where Louise had formerly lived and where they farmed for a couple of years. The urge to come back to South Dakota and again settle on the farm was great. This Lloyd and Louise did and remained there for most of the remainder of their lives. In the 1940's Lloyd and son, Elmo, purchased a quarter section of land across the road from the home place where Lloyd had been living. In order to have a house to live in, they moved the homestead home of Lloyd's grandfather, Jacob Borah, to the land they had just purchased. Lloyd had inherited the land where the house stood from his father, Jim Borah, after Jim's death. This land is located 1 mile directly east of the Jim Borah home where Lloyd grew up. Lloyd and Louise lived in this house for a number of years until Lloyd died on Mar. 26, 1967. He is buried in the Bonilla, South Dakota Cemetery.

After Lloyd's death Louise lived alone in her home for a short while and then became one of the first residents of the Huron, S. Dak. Nursing Home where she still resides in 1974. Although crippled pretty much by neuritis and spending most of her time in a wheel chair, she still has wonderful spirit and alertness of mind. She is most accomplished with her hands doing craft work, sewing piece quilt tops, and doing repair sewing. She has done quite a number of pieced quilt tops for the Bonilla Church Bazaar which have been auctioned off for some high prices. The family had a big celebration for her when she reached her 80th birthday.

When a very small boy he moved with his parents to South Dakota where he grew up on the same farm he now lives. He went to a small country school about a mile east of his home. Dak., the daughter of Grant and Ethel Jones Walton. The Waltons had come to South Dakota from Iowa. Of interest too, is that Dorothea came from a family of 18 children. Elmo farms not only the quarter where they live but the one across the road where his folks retired and the land inherited by his father from Elmo's Grandfather Jim. This land is located 2 miles south and $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles west of his home farm. In addition to the many other chores, Dorothea has raised turkeys and geese, not only as a hobby, but for income as well.

MILDRED LOIS BORAH MEYER OF THE TENTH GENERATION

22. MILDRED LOIS BORAH MEYER (always called Millie) fourth child of James Jervis and Lizzie Edna Bailey Borah, was born Oct. 2, 1893 at the Borah Farm home southwest of Bonilla, Beadle County, S. Dak. She attended elementary school at the Borah School (named for her father) which was located a half mile east and a mile south of the Borah home. When she was of high school age she attended Redfield College, Redfield, S. Dak. which had an academy in conjunction with it for a one year period. She took her second year of academy studies at Huron College, Huron, S. Dak. and graduated from a business course there in 1912. She worked for the Secretary of the South Dakota State Fair Board for a one year period.

On February 17, 1913, which was also the wedding anniversary of her parents, she married JOHN CHRISTIAN MEYER in Huron, Beadle County, S. Dak. He was born Oct. 15, 1883 near Menominee (now part of Milwaukee) Wisconsin. He was the third son in a family of 11 children born to Frederick and Wilhelmena Schumacher Meyer. Frederick Meyer had come to America in 1886 from a little town named Beestland, Mecklenburg, Germany. Wilhelmena Schumacher had come to America in 1872 from Klaptown, Pomerania, Germany. This part of Germany is now a part of Poland. When John Christian Meyer was 10 years of age his family moved to Iowa where they settled on a farm 6 miles north of Marcus, Cherokee County, Iowa. He spent his teen age years on the family farm in Iowa. In the early 1900's he and a cousin, Charles Meyer, who settled at Lake Preston, S. Dak., rode the freight trains to the harvest fields of North and South Dakota for a period of two years. After harvest the second year, John helped put up telephone lines out of Redfield, S. Dak. and ended up the year in late fall by picking corn for Millie's aunt and uncle, Charles and Maggie Bailey Lawson, near Burdette, S. Dak. John worked the following year for Millie's father, Jim Borah, near Bonilla, S. Dak. It was here that he and Millie got well acquainted.

In 1908 John homesteaded in Kiowa County, Colo. a mile north of Sheridan Lake. He lived on his homestead until it was proved up two years later. In 1927 John sold his Colorado homestead for a substantial gain. In 1910 he returned to South Dakota where he attended college for one year at Huron College, Huron, S. Dak. and the second year at South Dakota State College at Brookings. He did janitor work in churches and colleges about the towns to pay his way.

John and Mildred were married in Huron at the home of her parents, 789 S. W. Wisconsin Avenue. For their honeymoon they took a trip and visited his parents at Marcus, Iowa. Right after this they settled down on a farm 6 miles north and 1 mile west of Huron, S. Dak. known as the Curt Young farm. They farmed here for one year and then moved in 1914 to the Jim Borah farm located in Allen Township, Beadle County, S. Dak. being Section 4, Township 112 North, Range 64 West. Here they spent most of the rest of their lives. All of the children, except Camden, were born on this farm. Camden was born on the farm they first farmed, 7 miles northwest of Huron.

All of the Meyer children attended the Borah Elementary School as had their mother, and all except Durward graduated from Bonilla High School. Raising a large family was not an easy task. It was particular rugged during the years of drought in the mid thirties when the depression was at its height. John and Millie's experiences were no different than any of the rest of the Nebraska and Dakota folks. In 1932 they had an excellent wheat crop but the best price they could get was up to 23 cents per bushel for number one dark northern wheat. John decided not to sell part of his crop which he later used as seed wheat in 1933-34 and 35 when almost no wheat was harvested in any of those years. There may have been a few low spots where there was a small amount of grain but it was a very small amount indeed. With little rain and outside of the fact that there was no grain, there was also no corn and no hay. As a result the farmers sold their cattle. This happened to John and Millie as they had one of the best Hereford herds of cattle in the country which as John said, he had to give away because of no feed. The land became the dust bowl. On November 12, 1934 the wind blew for 24 consecutive hours from the southwest. Once the blow was over, the country was covered by a red rust which came from the panhandle of Texas and Oklahoma, the southwest of Kansas, the southeast of Colorado and the northeast of New Mexico. It took the country years to recover from such effects. Although many farmers pulled up stakes and left their farms, John and Millie and most of the rest of the people written up in this book stayed put. Eventually, it all paid off.

In 1919 John and Millie built a new set of outbuildings on their farm. This included a large barn, (the old barn Jim Borah had built in 1883 was taken down) a machine shed, a hog house, and a chicken coup. These buildings along with the other buildings on the farm were all painted white making one of the nicer looking farms in the country. The Meyers continued calling the farm "Woodland Farm" as the Borahs had.

John Christian Meyer died in Huron on Nov. 27, 1962. He is buried in the Meyer family plot in the Bonilla, S. Dak. cemetery. Mildred Borah Meyer lived on the farm for 8 years more, moving into Huron, S. Dak. on Oct. 31, 1970, the same day a new granddaughter, Peggy Michelle Rearick, was born.

John Christian and Mildred Borah Meyer.

After Mildred moved to Huron she sold the farm to Jan and Vivian Rearick, her grandson. John and Millie were members of the Bonilla Presbyterian Church and were active in it. Millie is a member of the Pioneer Daughters of South Dakota and of the Captain Alexander Telford Daughters of the American Revolution Chapter in Huron, South Dakota. She resides at 1950 Wisconsin Avenue S. W., Huron, South Dakota 57350.

Though it was Spring, no sweet rain came
For dry winds blew the clouds away,
And heaven and earth both wore the same
Enveloping cloak of dusty grey.

I walked beside my pansy bed
And saw the flowers had drooped and died.
I clenched my fists and shook my head;
"Lord, You've forgotten us!" I cried.

That night there fell a heavy rain,
And God reproached my angry thrust.
"In bitter words there is no gain.
Have patience, child, and only trust!"

JAMES CARROLL BORAH OF THE TENTH GENERATION

23. JAMES CARROLL BORAH (known to all as Carroll) the sixth child and third son of James Jervis and Lizzie Edna Bailey Borah, was born June 19, 1898 on the Borah homestead located two and one-half miles south and a mile west of Bonilla, Beadle Co., S. Dak. The first ten years or so of his life were spent on the Borah Homestead and attending the Borah School. He moved with his parents to Huron, S. Dak. where he finished his schooling in the elementary grades and graduated from Huron High School. He completed his formal education with a business course at Huron College.

On June 28, 1922 he married LENORA CELIA MEYER (no relation to John Christian Meyer). She was born Jan. 21, 1899 to Adolph Otto and Julie Delvaux

Meyer at the Meyer farm home located 4 3/4 miles south of Cavour, Beadle Co., S. Dak. The house is situated on the east side of the road. Carroll and Lenora were married almost in the same location at Lenora's parents home located 4 miles south and 3/4 mile east of Cavour, S. Dak. Carroll has been a mechanical engineer involved primarily in road construction work and he also did some breaking of prairie land in the early twenties. They have always lived in Huron but the kind of work they were doing sometimes necessitated they be some thirty to forty miles from home base. For years they had a cook house along with the work crew in which Lenora cooked for the men. When Carroll first started he worked with his father, James Jarvis, and then with his son, Carmon. Over the years they have built more than 1500 miles of roads in Beadle County and in all the surrounding counties, mostly for the townships of the counties. In more recent years they generally drive to their home base for overnight.

Carroll and Lenora are now retired from the business and only occasionally work in a supervisory capacity. Outside of building roads, their work has grown into concrete culvert construction and the digging of dugouts for water storage and conservation. Carroll has accumulated several quarters of farm land located in Hand and Beadle Counties. He rents some of this land but farms some of it in conjunction with son, Carmon, and grandson, Jay.

Carroll and Lenora have always had an immense interest in the family and their history and genealogy. They were instrumental in encouraging us along when we were writing the Borah Genealogy and now are assisting in the Bailey Genealogy. They have stopped many times on their trips to Wisconsin and attempted to locate the graves of Seth and Clarissa Hoyt Davis, the parents of Sarah Margaret Davis. We believed the graves had to be in the area of Hader and Wastedo in Goodhue County, Minn. since this is where the family lived, but a lot of searching produced no results. One day by chance Carroll stopped and visited with a farmer who lived less than a mile northeast of Hader. The farmer who was an old timer in the area was named Oscar Haugen. He told Carroll that he knew of a cemetery right close by where there were five or six graves and one of them was Seth Davis. The stones were taken down years ago and thrown in a deserted stone quarry. Searching for the stones failed to produce the one for Seth Davis but at least the location of the graves was found.

In June 1972 Carroll and Lenora celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary. Many members of the family and lots of friends made a special effort to get to the big affair. The Borahs reside at 1307 S.W. Third Street, Huron, South Dakota 57350.

HERBERT PRESTON BORAH OF THE TENTH GENERATION

24. HERBERT PRESTON BORAH, the seventh child of James Jervis and Lizzie Edna Bailey Borah, was born Oct. 12, 1904 at the Borah farm southwest of Bonilla, Beadle Co., S. Dak. When he was a small child his parents moved to Huron where he went to grade school, high school, and attended college.

On Sept. 22, 1924 he married MILDRED OPAL ALLISON. (We call her Millie.) She was born Aug. 4, 1904 at Wolsey, S. Dak., the daughter of John and Maude Wharton Allison. Soon after they were married they built a new set of farm buildings across the road from the farm where Herbert was born, on land that Herbert owned. In 1974 all of the buildings have been moved to other sites. They lived on the farm for several years but were forced to move in 1936 because of the depression and drought. It was necessary they seek other means of making a living so they moved to Bryant, S. Dak. where they purchased a theatre and furniture store.

While in Bryant, Herbert became a member of the Bryant Masonic Lodge and was a very active member. He made a large electrically lighted star with colors appropriate to the Eastern Star Points. They are still using this star today in all work pertaining to the Order of Eastern Star. In 1946 Herbert, Millie, and Beverly moved to northern Minnesota at Roseau where they built a new theatre and shopping center.

Allison Borah.

Herbert, like his father, was very active in civic and community affairs. In Roseau as in Bryant, he was instrumental in getting the city streets blacktopped. In Roseau, he became a member of the City Council and the Tax Equalization Board. He could see the potential of Polaris Industries in Roseau so he purchased a large number of stock in the company and became a member of its Board of Directors. The strain both mental and physical was too great so after two heart attacks, it was decided it would be best to sell his holdings and move to a warmer climate. In 1967 Herbert and Millie moved to Oceanside, Calif. where they purchased a retirement home. They lived in their new home for only about three months when Herbert had another heart attack and passed away on Oct. 26, 1967. He is buried in the Borah family plot in Bryant, S. Dak. Millie lived in Oceanside for some four years until she decided to move back to South Dakota where she would be nearer the family. She now resides at 317 22nd Street S.W., Huron, South Dakota 57350.

MARGARET JANE BAILEY LAWSON OF THE NINTH GENERATION

6. MARGARET JANE BAILEY LAWSON (always called Maggie) fifth child of EDWARD GUARDENE and SARAH MARGARET DAVIS BAILEY, was born Sept. 4, 1873 in Oakland, Pottawattamie County, Iowa. The first ten years of her life she spent in Iowa but moved with her parents to Dakota Territory in 1883. Their homestead was near Burdette, Hand County, present day South Dakota.

On March 8, 1893 she married CHARLES M. LAWSON (always called Charley) at Burdette, Hand County, South Dakota. He was born in Ripon, Fond du Lac

Charles M. and Margaret Bailey
Lawson.

Lawson & Hall.

HURON, S. DAK.

County, Wisconsin on Oct. 9, 1863, the son of Jabin and Emma Muhlig Lawson. Jabin was the son of Steven and Keziah Lawson who lived in Schenectady, New York. Emma Muhlig came to Wisconsin from Halifax, Nova Scotia where she was born. Charles Lawson had two brothers who many of the older folks knew; Arza of Tulare, South Dakota and Thomas of Condie, South Dakota. He also had a couple of other brothers, John and Sydney, who lived at Ripon, Wisconsin.

Soon after they were married, Charley and Maggie bought the quarter section of land that William and Ellen Newton owned and were farming at that time. The quarter section of land is identified as the Northeast Quarter of Section 28, Township 114 North, Range 6 West. We don't believe that the Newtons had homestead rights on this quarter since the quarter they homesteaded is in the northwest corner of the same township (Burdette).

The Lawsons built a good looking set of buildings on the south side of the road and about in the middle of the north side of the quarter. The Newtons had lived along the east side of the Section. The Lawsons lived on this farm until April 1919 when they moved to Huron, S. Dak. This happened right after their only son, Sidney, died in 1918. They lived at 225 Montana St. in Huron where he died Dec. 9, 1935 and she on March 27, 1947. Both are buried in the Burdette Cemetery, Hand County, South Dakota.

Child born to CHARLES M. and MARGARET JANE BAILEY LAWSON:

- (i) SIDNEY EARL LAWSON, only child of Charles M. and Margaret Earl Bailey Lawson, was born near Burdette, Hand County, South Dakota on Feb. 11, 1897. He attended a nearby school and lived all his life on his parents farm. He died at the farm home during the influenza epidemic on Oct. 26, 1918. He is buried with his parents in the Burdette Cemetery, Hand Co., S. Dak. Sidney's death was a sad event indeed for Charley and Maggie. They never really ever recovered from this loss.

BAILEY LINEAGE

1. JOHN JACOB BAILEY, a weaver of Chippenham, Wiltshire, England, came to America aboard the "Angel Gabriel" bringing with him his son, John, Jr., and his daughter, Joanna. The Angel Gabriel was shipwrecked off the coast of Maine in the terrible storm of Aug. 15, 1635. His wife and son Robert, and a couple of daughters had stayed behind in England with the thought of coming to America as soon as proper arrangements could be made but the storm, although he escaped from it with no ill effects, so deeply affected him that his account he wrote to his wife prompted her to never come to America and he was too timid to risk again crossing the Atlantic so they never again saw each other.

JOHN JACOB BAILEY settled first near Ipswich, Massachusetts but soon went to the area of Newbury, Massachusetts where he built a log cabin on the elevated plateau on the easterly side of what is known as Bailey's Hill. The site of the cabin is still marked by a depressed area where the cellar once existed. Old deeds indicated that the site is the homestead of John Jacob Bailey. It is about fifty acres in size and borders the Merrimac River on the west side and the Powow River on the north side. We have record, too, that John Jacob Bailey was a fisherman and the sole right to fish in the Powow River was granted to him. Part of his obligation was to give a certain portion of the fish to the town as fish was an important article of food for everybody.

In 1639 he became the first settler of Salisbury, Massachusetts, his name being on the list of persons granted land there in 1640. He also received a grant of land in Amesbury, Massachusetts. His name is one of eighteen inscribed on a memorial tablet in Golgotha Cemetery, Amesbury, Massachusetts, erected in honor of the first settlers of that place.

"John Bayly of Newbury" left a will dated 28th of ye 8th mo 1651 recorded in the Norfolk Deeds vol 1, leaf 15, Essex County, Massachusetts. The will was proved in Salisbury Court 13:2; 1652. His death occurred Nov. 2, 1651 in Newbury where he had moved in 1650 or 1651.

JOHN JACOB BAILEY's wife was ELIZABETH KNIGHT daughter of WILLIAM KNIGHT and JANE LANGBOURN KNIGHT of Embourne, Berkshire, England. Children of John Jacob Bailey and Elizabeth Knight that we have record of:

2. i. JOHN BAILEY (Our Ancestor)
- ii. Joanna Bailey married William Huntington
- iii. Robert Bailey (no further information on him, believe stayed in England)
- iv. Possibly two daughters.

2. JOHN BAILEY, JR. was born in Chippenham, Wiltshire, England in 1613. He came to America with his father and settled first in Ipswich, Massachusetts and then Salisbury and finally Newbury, Massachusetts. He married Eleanor Emery. Like his father he was a weaver and farmer. Records show that he received land in both Salisbury and Newbury. In John C. Currier's "History of Newbury" (1900), John Bailey, Jr. is frequently mentioned as holding positions of public trust. In 1678 he took the oath of allegiance to the King of England; and was in full communion with the church of Newbury. He was a surveyor of highways, a tithing man, active as a selectman, and protector of those who were threatened with punishment because they ventured to preach a religious doctrine contrary to the laws and usages of the day. He died in March 1691.

In 1702 the family moved to Arundel (now Kennebunkport) Maine, living for two years at Casco Fort in Casco Bay. His wife Priscilla died Nov. 16, 1704 and was buried in the Wadsworth Cemetery, Danvers, Massachusetts. He married widow Sarah Sawyer, November 27, 1707. 5. JAMES BAILEY born May 12, 1722 probably in Newbury, Mass. He married RACHEL BERRY, daughter of JOSHUA and ABIAH PHILBRICK BERRY, in Greenland, New Hampshire on Dec. 13, 1716. He was one of the first settlers of Peacham, Vermont. During the French and Indian War he served as a Brigadier General in the British Army and was taken prisoner on Lake George and was transported to France where he was kept prisoner in a castle for 19 months; was exchanged and sent to England, later returned home. During the French and Indian War his home in Peacham was the only Block house in town. No record of her death but he married secondly, Mary Kincaid. Records are obscure on him but he died in 1808 and his second wife, Mary, in 1818.

6. ABIJAH BAILEY was born in Newbury, Essex County, Mass. on Sept. 3, 1758. Married MOLLIE BUTTERFIELD SAWYER, daughter of JONATHAN and SUSANNAH

FARWELL BUTTERFIELD. Abijah Bailey was one of the early settlers of Peacham, Caledonia Co., Vt., and endured many hardships on the frontier. He was a soldier in the Revolutionary War, serving in Capt. Jeremiah Post's Company, Gen. John Stark's Brigade. He was in the Battle of Bennington, at Bennington, Vt., fought on Aug. 16, 1777, and assisted in carrying Capt. Post from the battlefield when he (Capt. Post) was mortally wounded. He re-inlisted in 1778 under Capt. Ezekiel Ladd, Col. Timothy Bedel's regiment, which was raised in New Hampshire for the defense of the frontier.

Abijah Bailey was a farmer in Peacham and there his children were born. In 1806 he purchased a farm the most of which lay in the township of North Troy, Orleans Co., Vt., but the house of this farm where the family lived was just over the line in the town of Pottou, Province of Quebec, Lower Canada. There he died March 6, 1842.

The grave of Abijah Bailey may be found in the northwest part of the cemetery at North Troy, Vt. It is marked by a simple sandstone slab, the inscription of which was scarcely discernable when visited by Warren Curtis Bailey and his wife, Alice Crocker Bailey, in Aug. 1920. It is of interest to note that Harold Curtis Bailey, has in his possession (it having been handed down to each generation) a powderhorn bearing the inscription, "A. B. 1776, which was carried by Abijah Bailey."

Children born to ABIJAH and MOLLIE BUTTERFIELD SAWYER BAILEY:

He spent the early part of his life as a farmer near North Troy, Orleans Co., Vt., his house being across the line in Canada, as was that of his father. He was a soldier in the War of 1812; married HANNAH DUFUR, who was born in New Hampshire, May 15, 1797. In the fall of 1844 he moved his family to Ohio, the route being;-by wagon North Troy, Vt., to lake Camplain; boat through Lake Champlain and Lake George to Troy, N.Y. thence by canal, Troy to Buffalo, N.Y.; by lake Erie boat Buffalo to Cleveland, O. Here his farmhouse was located at the southeast corner of the two roads at the north top of the deep gully two miles north of Henrietta Mill, and overlooked the valley of the Vermillion River. Diagonally across, in 1924, stands a red birch schoolhouse. In 1848 Mr. Bailey moved to a farm which he had bought in Henrietta township, Lorain Co., O., located on the south side of the main road three miles west of Oberlin, Lorain Co., toward Kepton, and there he built a log cabin. In 1924 this farm occupied by and is owned by Tracy Twining. In 1855 the family moved to Ransom, Hillsdale Co., Mich., and bought a farm. He died there Oct. 6, 1875. The Bailey information came from a number of sources but primarily from:

1. The Bailey Genealogy by Edna Climena Bailey Lewis. She was a niece of Edward Guardene Bailey and Sarah Margaret Davis Bailey. Copies of this genealogy are in the hands of each of the branches of the family. It is the one most of us are familiar with.
2. The Genealogy of James, John and Thomas Bailey and their descendants, edited by Hollis P. Bailey and published by The Citizen Company, Somerville, Massachusetts in 1899. A copy of this genealogy is in a number of Genealogical Libraries in United States. One copy is in the L.D.S. Genealogical Library in Salt Lake City, Utah. A discrepancy exists in the lineage in this genealogy as compared to the lineage in The Bailey Genealogy by Edna Climena Bailey Lewis. Hollis P. Bailey says that James Bailey #5 above is a descendant of James Bailey given in the title of his book above. Edna Climena Bailey Lewis says that he is not correct and gives the lineage as she has it. I am giving it as she has it since in the early 1950's correspondence was carried on with a Charles Franklin Bailey (long since deceased) who says that he helped Edna Climena Bailey Lewis correct the error that Hollis P. Bailey had made. Although I have made some effort to solve the riddle I can find no conclusive evidence so am giving it as Edna Climena Bailey Lewis had it. This will be a problem for future genealogists to solve someday.

DUFUR LINEAGE

HANNA DUFUR the mother of Edward Guardene Bailey and the wife of Jonothan Butterfield Bailey, was born May 15, 1797 in New Hampshire, possibly Marlborough, Cheshire County. Her death certificate says she was born in Vermont but all other sources such as the Bailey Genealogy and the Census records say she was born in New Hampshire. I believe New Hampshire is correct since even though we have not proven her parentage for certainty, evidence points to David and Ruth Dufur of Marlborough, Cheshire County, New Hampshire as being either her parents or her grandparents.

We know very little about David Dufur or any of his children. The Genealogical History of Marlborough says that David Dufur came from Boston, Mass. in 1773 and settled on a farm owned in 1881 by an Ansel Nye. On Feb. 24, 1774 David Dufur purchased 110 acres of land in Marlborough, New Hampshire from Moses Tucker for 40 pounds. This tract of land was Lot 41 and part of Lot 54. In 1881 the remains of the cellar are still visible on the knoll near the spring on the road leading from Charles Ryans to Ivory Gates. He resided there but a few years and then purchased land and built a house in what is now called the Dufur Orchard, northeasterly of the school house in District #1 in Marlborough.

In 1777 David Dufur was a deer reaf. His duty to expose any person who killed deer at an unreasonable time of the year in town of Marlborough. On March 14, 1776 he was a member of the Committee of Safety "which do solemnly engage and promise that we will do the utmost of our power at the risk of love and fortune to oppose the hostile proceedings of the British Fleet and Armour against the U. S. Colonies." In the Federal census of 1790 he was listed as David Denfore with one male above 16 years of age, three below 16, and 2 females.

David and Ruth Dufur had a sizeable family among them being: Abel, David, Silas, Hepsy, Eliphalet, and we think Hannah. As the country opened up in Vermont, Abel, David, and Eliphalet all settled in Vermont; Eliphalet near Richford in Franklin Co. which is close to North Troy where Hannah Dufur married Jonothan Butterfield Bailey and lived for some years. Hannah named one of her daughters, Hepsibeth. We do not know the birthdate of any of the Dufur brothers but we do not believe they are old enough to be the father of Hannah, but it is possible.

Where David Dufur came from is only speculation. Quite possibly he did as many other settlers in Vermont and New Hampshire and that is to go by boat up the Connecticut River from the Connecticut, New York area. He has a possibility of being a descendent of a David Dufour who came to America and settled in the Readington, New Jersey area about 1657. About 1650 quite a number of Walloons and Huguenots took refuge in the Palatinate in Germany from the religious persecution in France. They resided for sometime in the Palatinate of the Rhine at Mannheim and at Frankenthal, Germany heading to England and the United States. According to the book "Early German Settlers of New Jersey" David Dufour had seven sons. Quite possible one of these could be an ancestor of our David Dufur since David was a popular name in the family.

For more information on Hannah Dufur, see the Bailey Lineage for Jonothan Butterfield Bailey and the index.

DAVIS LINEAGE

1. FOULK (FULKE) DAVIS progenitor of our Davis line in America was first in Southhampton, Long Island, New York as his name appears on Ward Number 3 records as of March 7, 1644. He was one of 44 families residing in Southhampton on that date. He is also mentioned as having purchased two acres of land on Oct. 22, 1644 in Southhampton. Most of the settlers of Southhampton came there from Massachusetts where they had settled first after their trip across the Atlantic. We are unable to find evidence that Foulk Davis was in Massachusetts but he may have been. We believe he originally came from Wales as it is brought down in the family that he was of Welsh extraction. Ffulkk Davis (as it was spelled in an early record) moved from Southhampton to East Hampton, Long Island, where he is on the town list in 1653 and 1656. From East Hampton, Foulk apparently moved to the new settlement of Brookhaven, Long Island sometime during the 1660's, and settled on land originally purchased from the Indians by the settlers of Southold in 1655. On June 10, 1664, there was purchased from the Indian Chief Masset-ewse the tract of land at Old Man's Harbor (now Mount Sinai) where Foulk and his children acquired property on or near where some of his descendants have lived until this day. The consideration paid the Indians for this large acreage was "Fowre Cotes, Fowre Payre of Stockeing, Too Chestes of Powder, Tenn Bares of Led, Six Howse, Tenn Hatchetts, and Tenn Knives, (Men siz Cotes), and 4 Sherts, and 3 Pekle Kettles." It would seem that the colonists although devout Puritans were not above driving a sharp bargain with the Indians.

In the Brookhaven records under date of December 12, 1670 Foulk Davis gives his dwelling house "in this towne" to his son Joseph and also exchanges with Joseph five acres of land in Brookhaven. Apparently he then moved to Jamaica, Long Island. Under date of Oct. 25, 1671 (also Brookhaven records) Foulk gives his own residence as "Jamaica in the north Rieding of yourkshiere," deeds to his son in law william Sallire of Southhold" a tract of land in Brookhaven. The Jamaica town records from 1685 to 1691 contain a number of references to Foulk and his wife and later widow Mary. He probably died about 1687. He is probably buried at Jamaica. We find no record of a will. Foulk was married first about 1639. We have no knowledge as to whom he married but his first wife died previous to 1660. She was the mother of all of his children. Foulk married secondly, a widow Mary Dayton. She survived him but was deceased by May 4, 1699.

Children of Foulk Davis and first wife:

- i. Benjamin Davis born ca 1640, died Dec. 20, 1692 at Southhampton. Married Rebecca.
2. ii. JOSEPH DAVIS born about 1645 at Southhampton. Died 1691 at Brookhaven. Married Elizabeth. (Our Ancestor)
- iii. Samuel Davis born about 1647 at Southhampton. Died at Jamaica about 1692. Married Mary.

- iv. Jonothan Davis died in 1674 at Jamica. Married Sarah.
- v. Sarah Davis. No dates known. Married William Salyer.
- vi. John Davis. No information.

2. JOSEPH DAVIS born probably about 1645 in Southhampton, Long Island. He evidently moved to Brookhaven when a very young man as he is mentioned as being there in the town records as of Sept. 23, 1668. On that date he was granted the responsibility of town weaver, which he must have been for the rest of his life. About 1670 he married Elizabeth, surname not known. Under date of July 26, 1673 the records state that there was "controversy between Elizabeth wife of Joseph, and Sarah, wife of William Salyer, and Jonothan daves and his wife Sarah". Sarah Salyer, Joseph's sister had gossiped about Elizabeth. The record although interesting is too long to quote here. It was decided that Sarah was to apologize to Elizabeth.

In reading between the lines of the record, Joseph must have been a frugal, industrious, reliable and devout citizen, with an even disposition, little given to quarrelling or meddling in other people's affairs. He apparently prospered, becoming a large landowner on Brookhaven, Long Island and acquired considerable personal property. He died in 1691 when a comparatively young man. He is probably buried by the "Witches Rock" near Mt. Sinai which is close to Brookhaven. His will was proved May 25, 1691 and is recorded in Early Long Island Wills for Suffolk Co., 1691-1703, and names his wife Elizabeth, his oldest son Joseph, sons Samuel, Benjamin, and Daniel and daughter Mary. There are many recordings concerning Joseph Davis in Book II, Brookhaven, Long Island records.

Children of Joseph and Elizabeth Davis: Order not known except Joseph was the eldest.

- i. Joseph Davis born probably about 1671.
- ii. Benjamin Davis. No dates known.
- iii. Samuel Davis. No dates known.
- 3. iv. Daniel Davis. No known birth date but estimated to be in the 1680's.
- v. Mary. Married Capt. Robert Robinson of Brookhaven.

3. DANIEL DAVIS. We would gather from the information concerning Daniel's father, Joseph, that Daniel was born sometime in the 1680's in Brookhaven, Long Island, Suffolk Co., New York. No records concerning him until 1708 and 1710 when a Daniel Davis is listed as a taxpayer in Brookhaven. He is again on the assessment rolls as a taxpayer in Brookhaven, Long Island on April 24, 1738 and in 1741 and 1749. The lack of any definite proof makes much of the information on Daniel rather indefinite but the Bailey Family Bible in possession of the James Bailey family says that Daniel was the father of Joseph Davis, father of David Davis, father of Seth Davis, father of Sarah Margaret Davis of whom we write this book. Although the problem was studied extensively we cannot prove the lineage as it is given here but it seems very plausible since we can locate no other Daniels at that early date in Brookhaven. Any other dates or information on whom Daniel might have married is not available to us.

Only child we know about born to Daniel and his wife:

- 4. i. Joseph Davis born in 1738. (This according to Bailey Family Bible record.)

4. JOSEPH DAVIS born 1738 in Brookhaven, Long Island, Suffolk Co., New York. The Bailey Bible says he married Abigail Parsons. We believe her to be the Abigail Parsons who was the daughter of John Parsons and Abigail Mulford Chatfield Parsons. If this is correct she would be the granddaughter of Seth and Sarah Parsons and Isaac and Mary Conklin Mulford. Although we studied the family a considerable bit we are unable to provide for certainty the above connections. Abigail Parsons was born in Sept. 1741. Joseph Davis seems to have lived in Pachogue and Hempstead, Long Island according to the Bailey Bible. Knowledge of their lives and when they died is lacking. Also lacking is information about their family

Children of Joseph and Abigail Parsons Davis: (Number no Known.)

5. i. DAVID DAVIS born May 27, 1768 Pachogue, Long Island, Suffolk Co., New York.
- ii. A Daniel Davis who lived next to David in Broome Co., New York is a possible brother.

5. DAVID DAVIS born May 27, 1768 at Pachogue, Long Island, Suffolk Co., New York. (His birthdate is recorded in the Bailey Family Bible.) About 1789 he married Betsey Hammond. She was born May 3, 1768 at Coram, Long Island, New York, a daughter of Noah and Lucretia Fountain Hammond. For the first years of their married life they lived at Long Beach, Long Island where he was a carpenter, shipbuilder and farmer. About 1815 they removed to Lisle, Broome Co., New York where he was a farmer. In the 1830 census of Broome County, New York, town of Lisle, it lists David Davis as between 60-70 with 1 male 15-20 and 1 male 20-30; 1 female 20-30 and 1 female 60-70. Living in Lisle also in 1830 and right next to David Davis was a Daniel Davis age between 50-60. We suspect he was a brother to David. A deed for land was issued by David and Betty Davis to Seth and Fountain Davis in the town of Lisle, Broome Co., New York, Deed Book 14, page 43, Jan. 6, 1832. David Davis was a highly esteemed man and a Deacon in the Baptist Church. He removed to Virgil, Courtland Co., New York where he died Feb. 29, 1848. Betsy Hammond Davis died Oct. 29, 1854.

Children born to David and Betsey Hammond Davis:

- i. Daniel Davis born Apr. 15, 1790. Died Sept. 22, 1795.
- ii. Noah Hammond Davis born Apr. 9, 1792. Died July 14, 1824. He is buried at Lisle, New York. He went by the name of Hammond.
- iii. Charles Davis born Apr. 15, 1794. Lived and died at Binghamton, New York.
6. iv. SETH DAVIS born Aug. 13, 1796 at Long Beach, Long Island, New York. (Our Ancestor)
- v. Maria Davis born Aug. 10, 1798.
- vi. Betsey Davis born Aug. 14, 1801.
- vii. John C. Davis born May 22, 1804. In 1830 he was in Lisle, Broome Co., New York where he was married with a son and daughter under 5.
- viii. Ezra Fountain Davis born Apr. 20, 1807. Went by name, Fountain.
- ix. Lucy D. Davis born Oct. 22, 1809.
- x. David Davis born June 7, 1814.

6. SETH DAVIS born Aug. 13, 1796 in Long Beach, Long Island, Nassau County, New York. He probably grew up in the Long Island area and moved with his family to Lisle, Broome Co., New York about 1815. On July 13, 1816 he married Clarissa Hoyt at Lisle, Broome County, New York. She was born Apr. 27, 1798 in Onandaga Co., New York, the daughter of Elijah and Polly Quintard Raymond Hoyt. Seth and Clarissa Hoyt Davis lived in Lisle, Broome Co., New York until about 1837 when they moved to Barry Co., Michigan. Seth Davis was a farmer, school teacher, and for a while was postmaster at Castleton, Barry Co., Michigan. Camden B. Meyer has in his possession a certificate issued on the 5th day of July 1842 by Charles A. Wickcliff, Postmaster General of the U.S.A. appointing Seth Davis postmaster at Castleton, Barry Co., Michigan. He took the Oath of Office on July 18, 1842. Charles A. Wickcliff set his hand and seal on the document Oct. 24, 1842 the 67th year of Independence for the United States of America. In 1974 Castleton no longer exists as a post office. When it did exist it was to the north of Assyria in Barry Co. Seth Davis is listed in the Federal Census of 1840 and of 1850 as a resident of Barry County, Michigan.

About 1857 the Davis family moved to Goodhue Co., Minn. where they settled near the small community of Wastedo, Leon Township, Goodhue Co., where they lived the remainder of their lives. The family home was located on the West Half of the Northeast Quarter of Section 26 of Leon Township. Clarissa Hoyt Davis died May 6, 1865 and Seth Davis died March 10, 1868. Letters of Administration are recorded for Seth Davis with Samuel P. Chandler as Administrator. They were issued in Goodhue County and dated Jan. 9, 1869. The land mentioned above was sold to Swante Anderson for a sum of $1,195.00.

Considerable searching was done both by Camden B. Meyer and by J. Carroll Borah for the burial place of Seth and Clarissa Hoyt Davis with seemingly no results. However, on one of his trips to the area J. Carroll Borah ran across a gentleman by the name of Oscar Haugen who resides a half mile or so northeast of Hader (a small community on Highway 52 about 10 miles south of Cannon Falls, Minn.) and on Highway 8. He gave Carroll the location of what they call the Old Hader Cemetery which has been unused and deserted for close to a hundred years. He mentioned that Seth Davis was buried there along with some four or five others. He said that the cemetery had been farmed over since the 1930's and that the stones had been thrown into a rock quarry which is located right to the west of the cemetery location. In trying to find the monuments, those for Seth or Clarissa Hoyt Davis could not be located but the one for their son, Benjamin, was found. The use of the rock quarry has undoubtedly covered the stones but sometime perhaps they may be found. (See pictures of Seth and Clarissa Hoyt Davis on page 4.)
